Red Cross Asks War Relief Funds

Appeals To Be Made In Local Churches And Boy Scout Messengers

Have the latest war developments touched the sympathies of the people of Arlington Heights? They will be given the opportunity the coming week to contribute to the Red Cross War Relief Fund now being collected under the local Red Cross chairman, Gustave Heidorn. Mr. Heidorn received the following telegram Saturday:

Chicago, May 11, 1940
Gustave Heidorn,
Arlington Heights.

The president of the United States and National Chairman Norman H. Davis of the American Red Cross, have appealed to the American public for a relief fund of ten million dollars to help alleviate the suffering of millions of new victims of the European war. Our Chicago chapter has been assigned a quota of one million dollars. Urgent that you organize your workers for immediate solicitation of the residents of your community.

James B. Forgan, Chairman
Conference with local Red Cross workers has brought about a new plan of Red Cross solicitation. Boy Scouts will deliver to householders in person the Red Cross message and an envelope for contributions, which in turn can be left at business houses mentioned thereon.

All pastors of Arlington Heights churches will be asked to announce during Sunday services the drive for funds.

Red Cross relief since the invasion of the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg last Friday has included $100,000 cabled to the Red Cross societies of the Netherlands and Belgium, the purchase in the United States of 150 fast, air-conditioned ambulances, 100 auxiliary hospital trucks, ten field hospitals and large quantities of surgical instruments.

Commenting on the progress of the war fund appeal, Chairman Norman H. Davis of the American Red Cross in Washington said today:

"The initial response has been marvelous. Our chapters and the public know the Red Cross would not have asked for funds unless the needs in Europe had become imperative. Now there is no time to lose. Already we have acted to help the Red Cross societies of Belgium and the Netherlands. I am confident the American people will want to share in this expression of sympathy and mercy to the stricken citizens of these countries."

Waymans Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Wayman returned Tuesday from the Rio Grande valley, where they spent the winter on their ranch. Levi says that the cold wave early this spring did a lot of damage some places, but his loss was small. Next winter's crop of grapefruit is now forming, but the yield will be below average.

Only Two Public Schools Remain In Schaumburg

Smaller Families Among Farmers Blamed For Decrease

There is a lot of truth in the statistics that show a falling birth rate in the present generation. That falling rate applies to farming districts as well as to cities, so the office of Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, has discovered.

According to G. C. Butler, assistant county superintendent of schools, in charge of division one, school district 55, known as the Hartmann school, will not open next year. There is one family in the district which will have children of school age, who would attend the school. Other children of school age attend an adjoining Christian day school. District 52 has been closed several years.

The two remaining schools in the township are district 51 with ten pupils and district 54 located in Schaumburg center.

Similar conditions exist in other schools of Mr. Butler's division. District 45, Hanover township, had 33 pupils a few years ago. Today the enrollment is only ten. The school of district 58 in Elk Grove township has been closed five years. A consolidation plan was voted down last year.

New subdivisions are having the opposite effect in district 59 on Higgins rd., where a two room building was erected a few years ago, and additional space will be needed very soon.

Prospect Police Find Bond Stolen from Juhnke Home

On April 28 between 6:30 and 1:00 p. m., the home of Henry Juhnke at 404 South Maple st., was broken into while they were away visiting friends. On returning home Mr. Juhnke notified the Mount Prospect police department and the police on investigating found that a bond on Arlington Heights Improvements had been stolen.

The treasurer of Arlington Heights and bond houses in Chicago were asked to call Chief Whittenberg in case anyone requested information on that particular bond.

On May 3, the chief was notified that some one was coming into a bond house at 120 South La Salle st. to cash the bond. The chief accompanied by the owner of the bond went to Chicago on May 4, as the chief was expected at 10:00 o'clock that morning. At 10:30 a negro walked into the bond house with the bond and Chief Whittenberg immediately placed him under arrest and turned him over to the States Attorney's Office.

The bond was returned to the owner.

The case against the negro will come up in about two weeks at Criminal Court Building. Chief Whittenberg will testify against him.

The negro claims to have had nothing to do with the actual robbery, but that a negro by the name of "Step and a Half" gave it to him.

G. H. Wilke, who has charge of the membership campaign reports that there will be nearly a 100 per cent membership for 1940.

Daniels Kindergarten Class Entertained At Plum Grove Estate

The little tots of the Daniels kindergarten of Arlington Heights, had a real treat Friday when they were the guests of Bobby Schuchardt at the home of his parents in the midst of the woods in Plum Grove. They enjoyed the picnic lunch and the picking of wild flowers on the private grounds of their host.

Incidentally Bobby's home is constructed out of the bricks from Arlington Heights old school house.

The same kindergarten group spent a day recently at the Albert Meyer home, in honor of Ronie's birthday. The young people especially enjoyed the Shetland pony and the hayrack ride about the farm.

W. Bunge, Itasca Veteran Business Man Dies

Funeral services were held Sunday for Wm. Bunge, prominent Itasca hardware merchant, who died Thursday after an illness of several weeks. Following a short stay in an Elgin hospital he was being cared for at Resthaven sanitarium.

Mr. Bunge had been engaged in the hardware and implement business in Itasca for 35 years. He leaves a wife, a daughter, June, and a foster daughter, Annetta Bicknese.

Health Board Appointment Up To Citizens

Citizens Committee Select Members Of Health Body

The thirty-two citizens who attended the health meeting last Thursday night in the village hall, went home with a clear picture of health supervision in Arlington Heights.

Mayor Flentje asked the clerk to read the rules under which the present health board is appointed and operates. A number of questions were asked by the citizens, representing local organizations interested in health matters.

Inquiries were not so much in criticism of present methods as evidence of the desire for information. Mayor Flentje's offer to appoint as members of the health board persons selected by those present, met with favor and on motion he was directed to appoint a committee for that purpose.

Those placed on the nominating committee were Mrs. Thelma Carroll, Mrs. Chas. Fitzpatrick, Dan Schueren, Carl Busse and Wm. F. Meyer, Jr. This committee met Tuesday evening and made their selections, which will not be announced until consents are secured from those whose names will be recommended to Mayor Flentje and the board of trustees at next meeting.

Scarsdale Making Plans For Annual Spring Party

Plans for the Scarsdale spring party are well under way. Tuesday evening the entertainment committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Dan Schueren together with the officers of the Scarsdale Property Owners' Association, formulated plans that will insure the success of the 1940 spring party.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. Schueren, 595 Newberry Place.

Each member of the entertainment committee is an expert in promoting affairs of this kind. In the first place, the gala occasion will have a country club atmosphere—the Mt. Prospect Country Club. It seems to be the most appropriate place for a party that is to take place on a June night—Saturday, June 8. Then, too, just the right kind of music has been selected to harmonize with a June night and a romantic setting. Excitement will be injected into the proceedings when interesting and valuable prizes will be given away from time to time during the evening.

Scarsdale residents are looking forward to the spring party with keen interest, and hope that their many friends are making their plans accordingly.

DesPlaines Again Asks For 'Horse and Buggy' Railroad Crossing Gates

DesPlaines has been envying the railroad crossing gates at Arlington Heights for some time. Monday night the DesPlaines city council directed City Attorney K. G. Meyer to petition Illinois State Commerce commission to have the C. & N. W. R. R. erect gates across the crossing at Graceland, Lee and Pearson streets.

Perhaps DesPlaines Swimming Pool Will Open This Season

The much delayed swimming pool at Des Plaines, may be opened this summer if the WPA makes good its promises to replace defective blocks in the pool that was built a year ago. The park district has installed all equipment needed for the operation of the plant.

Wm. Busse Jr. Nominated For Bankers' Treas.

Wm. Busse, Jr., president of the Mt. Prospect State Bank, has been nominated for the office of treasurer of the Illinois Bankers Association. His name has been submitted by the nominating committee and that virtually means election to that office. The convention meets in Chicago, May 28.

Nominees for other offices of the state organization are President, Chas. R. Reardon, vice president First National Bank, Joliet; Vice-President, Earl C. Adams, executive vice president of Jersey State Bank, Jerseyville, Ill.

Mr. Busse has been active in affairs of the bankers association. He served three years as chairman of the third district comprising the north-eastern part of the state, outside of Chicago, which office gave him a wide acquaintance with bankers throughout the state.

Banker friends of Mr. Busse throughout the home district express themselves as being highly pleased with the honor that is coming to Mr. Busse and to the district itself, by his almost certain election to the state office.

Tax Deadline This Week

Last Opportunity To Pay Taxes To Local Collector

From information given to the township collectors at the office of the county collector early this week it is evident that this is the final week of tax collections in the county towns.

The three week limit for the township collectors to have the tax books expires this week and from all appearances down town that limit is going to be enforced by the county office.

The collectors in this area last week warned the public that this would be the final week for payments to the home collectors and it seems that the boys knew whereof they spoke when they issued that warning.

So all taxpayers who have not yet paid their taxes are urged to make payment to their home collectors before the end of this week if they don't want to go through the ordeal of long lines of waiting taxpayers at the down town office between the end of this week and the penalty date June 1.

So it's the last call, folks, for tax payments to the home town collectors, if you haven't visited your local collector do so before the end of this week and thus cooperate with your home taxing bodies, your local collector and save yourself a lot of trouble later on by trying to buck that mob at the county building office.

After the closing of the books in the county towns, all payments must be made to the county collector and all checks must be certified.

Your home collector knows you and accepts your personal check, thus saving you more bother.

It's to the interest of every taxpayer to pay his taxes to the local collector, and thus is the last chance.

Elk Grove Community Club Sponsors Dance

Arlington Hts National Bank Has Own Movies

Photographic Film To Carry Permanent Record Of Checks

Arlington Heights National Bank has taken another forward step by the installation of a Recordak, with which all check transactions passing through the bank will be photographed on a movie film, which will remain as a permanent record of all checks issued by customers, and checks deposited by them.

The Recordak will provide added protection to depositors. A cancelled check has long been recognized as a receipt of the payment of an account. If the check is destroyed or lost, the receipt is gone. With a photographic record of checks the depositor can prove payment without the original check.

The installation of the new machine will also reduce the labor usually connected with the handling of checks. All banks of the country are faced with the necessity of cutting hours of their employees to meet the national wages and hours requirements. The new method of handling checks will save time employees and guard against accidents or loss of checks in the mails.

Attends Bullfight In Mexico; Sees Picture In Arlington Heights

Mayor J. D. Flentje was surprised Wednesday noon when he saw movies in Arlington Heights of a bull fight attended by him last January in Mexico City. The mayor had been invited by Alderman Goeddeke to witness some Mexican movies being shown by an Elmhurst salesman.

The scenes appeared familiar to the mayor and when the bull sat down on his haunches refusing to fight, Mr. Flentje was certain that he was somewhere in the audience when the picture was taken. Comparison of dates with the owner of the film proved that the mayor was correct.

Alderman Goeddeke found that the pictures of the fight were too much for him — and he never saw a real battle.

DesPlaines Fire Dept. Turns Down Appeal To Save Garage Of Outsider

Des Plaines fire department which was called to the home of William Kruse, 500 yards east of River road, on Rand road, Sunday afternoon, refused to fight the fire because the owner had not signed up for fire protection from the City of Des Plaines.

A new ordinance denies the fire department the right to answer fire calls for outside city residents who have not signed up for fire protection. To secure protection the owner must pay a yearly fee of $2.00, and have rider attached to insurance policies guaranteeing payment for any fire calls answered.

A new Seagraves fire truck costing $7,000 was delivered to the city of Des Plaines, Monday. It is the gift of the local fire department.

The department answered two other calls Sunday. The first was at the home of Eleanor Werhane, Weibord ave., where a fire had started in the basement. Little damage resulted.

At noon the department was called to Ridgewood cemetery where a pump house was ablaze.

Tire Blowout Causes Death And Injuries

Oak Park Man Sets Car Afire As He Takes Poison

A tire blowout caused the death of one man and the serious injury of another Sunday afternoon at the corner of Dundee and Quentins roads, north of Palatine.

Norman Johnson, 4234 Wellington, Chicago, is the victim who succumbed to injuries received while riding with Frank Capodanna, 2937 Kilbourne, Chicago, when one of the tires gave out. The car, traveling on Dundee road, left the road, striking a fence, on the Fred Langhoff property and then running into a telephone pole.

Both of the injured parties were taken to the Palatine hospital by Danielson's ambulance. Johnson was found to have suffered a concussion of the brain and failed to regain consciousness before death. Capodanna received severe lacerations about the body and was later transferred to the St. Joseph hospital, Chicago.

The car is owned by Edward Kallas, also of Chicago.

The injured men were members of a private picnic party spending the day in Deer Grove Forest Preserve.

Autoist Commits Suicide

Alfred H. Gallagher, 72 years old, 436 Maple Ave., Oak Park, is supposed to have set his car afire as he took poison early Saturday morning. Motorists traveling south on route 53 near Higgins road, saw the burning car and stopped, discovering the body of Gallagher six feet from the car.

Indications were that the man had died from a heart attack, due to excitement and his age. He was well dressed and the police found no trace of poison. The remains were taken to Northwestern hospital, Des Plaines, where Dr. Purvis found that poison was cause of death. The police later found the bottle from which the poison was while temporarily insane.

Jury gave a verdict of suicide when temporarily insane. One injured in Palatine Collision. John Bigler, 3242 Wilson, Chicago, was seriously injured in a collision at the corner of Route 14 and Smith road, Palatine, Monday morning when he allegedly drove through a "stop sign."

According to witnesses, R. Lloyd Smith, 3234 Lemoyne St., Chicago, was traveling southeast on Rt. 14, approaching the junction with Smith road when the Bigler car, moving north, crossed in front of the Chicago-bound vehicle. Smith attempted to turn and avoid the accident but was unsuccessful.

Dr. C. A. Starck of Palatine was summoned and took Bigler to the Palatine hospital via the Danielson ambulance. The victim had received several serious lacerations about his person.

Accompanying Smith were his wife and a friend, E. W. James of Chicago.

Both autos were towed to the Gaare garage in Palatine.

Public Invited To View Clerical Work Being Done For Village

The people of Arlington Heights will have the opportunity next week to get a new slant on WPA activities.

In company with all other Professional and Service divisions of the Work Progress Administration, the group at the Arlington Heights Village hall will hold open house during the week May 20 to 25 inclusive.

The project which is meaning a great deal to Arlington Heights is the codifying of the ordinances of the Village and bringing them up to date. Also transcribing the special assessments so that all assessments against each lot in the village will appear on its sheet or large card. When completed it can be determined at a glance how much is assessed against any particular lot in any particular subdivision, how much due, how much when paid, and the balance due.

The public is invited to come and see and examine the work and ascertain for themselves the inestimable value such a project is to this community.

Monday the 20th the hall will be open until 6 p. m. The balance of the week through Friday until 9 p. m. and closes Saturday at 4 p. m. Every one should take advantage of this unique opportunity to see the actual work performed. Examine the working out of these projects afternoons and evenings from Tuesday on all next week.

The WPA open house in Arlington Heights is part of a nation wide program that will be started by a radio address by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, broadcast from Washington on Monday.

The week of May 20-25 has been designated to acquaint the people of America with the actual Community Values resulting from the operation of the professional and Service Division Projects of WPA through a nation-wide Open House celebration on every project from coast to coast. Under this program the local sponsors of professional and service projects are inviting citizens of America to see for themselves what this work is doing for their communities by inspecting projects in operation.

In Chicago and Cook county, Mrs. Roosevelt and the other speakers will have an audience of 24,000 project workers who will launch the week with a modest 25c "banquet" consisting of sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cake. Also in Chicago, more than 5,000 women employed on the sewing project will congregate in the 124th Field Artillery for the 25c meal. Other project locations, school auditoriums and park field houses will observe the week.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 12.
The Golden Text was, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (John 3:6).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was made any thing that was made" (John 1:1-3).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man reflects God; mankind represents the Adamic race, and is a human, not a divine, creation. In the Gospel of John, it is declared that all things were made through the Word of God, 'and without Him (the logos, or word) was not anything made that was made.' Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make,—hence its unreality. In the Science of Genesis we read that He saw everything which He had made, 'and, behold, it was very good'" (p. 525).

A Goitre Is Never Harmless
By C. W. Lussman
Of Sieburg Pharmacy
A goitre is not only unsightly and unnecessary, but is an actual threat to good health. Such a growth is an indication that the best medical advice is imperative and that surgery may be required.
Only your doctor can advise you properly. What happened to one of our friends or relatives, what they say about the matter is beside the point and very likely not applicable to your case at all.
Medication is nearly always indicated. Drugs should be taken only upon a doctor's advice and written prescription, and should certainly be prepared by a druggist who is reliable and skillful.

Up to the Judge if costume gets by Lions dance

Wesley Comfort, one of the men who will judge the dancers who attend the Lions club costume dance at the Palatine high school gymnasium, Saturday night, is not at all sure whether the horns and pitchfork will be admitted. The three wise men of the east followed their star — So did the wise families who now are the proud owners of modern homes in our complete and improved home community. Only a few short months ago these families thought home ownership was beyond their reach — they realized their ambition — YOU, too can join these happy and WISE home owners. THEY read every word of the following — then they acted!

If you can buy a home for six thousand dollars, you're foolish to pay seven thousand. That's horse sense, isn't it? Read on and see why. You'll pay that extra thousand IF you wait. In a few months if price indications mean anything, building costs ARE going UP. Renting will not SAVE YOU either because rents are going up, too.

America is SHORT of homes. Through the worst of the depression population increased, homes burned, and homes tumbled into decay. That's no news to you — just plain facts.

Even then the experts predicted sharply increased home building in the early forties. THE FORTIES ARE HERE. Building is headed UP. General business is headed up. America is more short of homes than ever.

Since 1795 there never has been less than 16 years nor more than 20 between building booms. History is repeating itself TODAY. Demand for homes, indeed the whole of real estate activity is following the usual cycle.

Let Roy Wenzlick, an expert on building and real estate, president of Real Estate Analysts, Inc., tell you what he thinks. Investment firms all over the country are seeking his counsel. They have many billions in real estate — which indicates that he, as much as any man, knows what he's talking about.

Mr. Wenzlick says: "If you ever expect to build a home, there are many reasons for believing the next six months offer opportunities which won't exist again for many years."

This statement isn't mere off-hand opinion; it's conclusion based on more than 12 years of measuring and analyzing, city by city, the various factors responsible for changes in building costs. This statement could have been made before the war started in Europe. It's doubly true with the war in progress.

NOW — why does the present offer this unusual opportunity? There are many reasons. Materials WILL advance in price. Cost of building labor will increase. Building sites can be secured now at less than in the future. The cost of financing a home and interest rates, after dropping since 1929 will now advance.

Materials cost less now: Lumber, brick and Haydite Blocks, and other building materials cost less today than they did in the twenties and much less than they will in the later forties. Eighty-four cents today will buy as much building material as $1. would have bought in 1925, or $1.40 in 1920. General business has been improving since last summer, and this improvement has again started an upward trend in prices for building materials.

It is hard to say how far the price level may advance, but many of the same elements which caused the rise from 1914 to 1920 are again present, with a few extra added. Financing costs are lower today than ever before. This means more to you than you think. A rise of 1 per cent interest on a $6,000, 20-year building loan will cost you about $748, before you're through. There, Mr. Renter is the analysis of the men who know. Men who spend their lives in covering the housing and building fields — the whole range of real estate activity from the ground up.

It will not cost you anything to get all the facts — it may cost you $1000 if you delay — rental receipts represent not alone loss of money, BUT lack of opportunity and true happiness, which can be gained only through home ownership.

YOUR dream of home ownership can come true — write today for free plans. READ! ACT!

Yours truly,
Charles West

Speaking From Mirrors

Public speakers who want the audience to think they have memorized their address will give thanks to a stunt reported from Berlin. By an ingenious arrangement of plate glass mirrors, the speaker can look at his audience while actually reading his script. The manuscript is prepared in mirror-writing, that is, right to left, so that the printing appears normal when reflected in the mirror.

(Illustrated)

JUST suppose that down the street a dealer had an automobile so close to your heart's desire that it might have been made to your own specifications.

Suppose it had the room you've been wanting — the big, strapping size you'd like — the imposing style and good looks and soul-satisfying luxury of appointment.

Suppose it had all the life and zip and action you could ask for and a big, durable, thrifty power plant that could match even fine watchworks for smoothness.

Suppose you knew that car set the standard for real modernity and value—but just assumed that it must be out of your reach because it was so obviously good!

Wouldn't it be tragic if you passed up that honey — just because you didn't inquire what the prices actually were?

Here and there that's happening, we fear. Happening because people who want Buicks aren't getting the actual facts.

Maybe you didn't know that there are five 1940 Buicks at five different price ranges.

That every one of these has a big, husky, straight-eight engine electrically balanced after assembly by Buick's own exclusive process.

That soft, stout coil springs are found on every one — that every one has recoil-mounted Knee-Action, finger-flick transmission, bona fide Buick styling — features literally counted by the dozen.

Maybe you didn't know, above all, that for Buick SPECIAL models, current prices begin as low as $895 for the business coupe, delivered at Flint. That even when you add transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), and optional equipment and accessories, delivered prices are the lowest ever on such value.

But all that's true. You can prove it any day by asking for a demonstration that costs nothing, and involves no obligation.

So why take a chance of missing something gorgeously great that could be yours for the trying? Do something, and do it now — go see your Buick dealer!

*Prices subject to change without notice.

Election Of Officers At Men's Club Meeting

The next regular meeting of the Mount Prospect Men's club will be held at 8:00 p. m. Friday, May 17, 1940 in the Fellowship room of the South church.

The first part of the meeting will be devoted to an election of officers for the 1940-41 fiscal year. The nominating committee will submit its recommendations and all other nominees will be presented and voted upon.

After the election of officers motion pictures will be shown relating to the General Electric Company and its products and the United States Steel Corporation.

Both of these companies have produced some very interesting pictures which everyone will find very worthwhile entertainments. It has taken over five months to take some of these pictures and much time and effort has been spent on the production and other details involved in completing such interesting movies.

Chrysanthemum Culture

Seeking a way to save her chrysanthemum beds from frost, Mrs. B. R. Ticknor, Oklahoma City, erected canvas tents over them and heated the tents with electric lights. The scheme worked and Mrs. Ticknor walked away with most of the honors at the Oklahoma City chrysanthemum show—15 blue ribbons.

Selection of the July dates have been made to insure the best chance for fine weather conditions and a number of innovations have been decided upon which will give the carnival a greater pulling power than any heretofore held.

Chicago Builder Buys 93 Lots In Mount Prospect

One of the biggest real estate deals in the recent history of Mount Prospect has been completed by I. E. Besander with the sale of 93 lots comprising four city blocks bounded by Gregory, Memory Lane, N. Elmhurst rd. and North Main st. The property was purchased by the Donald Realty Corporation of 130 N. Wells st. of Chicago.

The purchaser and its associate organization, the Wells Construction Company, have recently completed the erection of a number of homes in Bensenville and expect to erect between forty and fifty homes on their new property in Mt. Prospect during the coming year.

Already considerable activity has been developed and five plans are now being submitted to F.H.A. for speculative homes to be built at once, the first model home on the property will shortly be under construction. I. E. Besander has been appointed local agent while the Donald Realty Corporation will also maintain an office on the property itself.

Workers Organize For Poppy Day On May 27

Call for volunteers to serve in the American Legion Auxiliary's Poppy day forces is being enthusiastically answered by the young women of Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Gilson, poppy chairman of the Mt. Prospect Auxiliary Unit, announced today.

Organization of the workers who will distribute the memorial poppies throughout the city on Poppy day, May 27, is proceeding rapidly. The women who are offering their services are being assigned to teams, each of which has a definite part of the city to supply with the little red flowers. Working in relays, they will be on the streets throughout the day.

"The response to the call for Poppy day workers is very gratifying," said Mrs. Gilson. "It shows that the spirit of patriotism is very much alive in the women of Mt. Prospect today. All will serve as unpaid volunteers every penny of the money contributed for the poppies going to the Legion and Auxiliary activities for the disabled veterans and dependent families of veterans."

"It is a real sacrifice for many of these women to serve on Poppy day. They must leave their homes and put in hours of hard, unaccustomed work. Their only reward will be to see the poppies blooming on every coat in tribute to the nation's heroic dead and to feel their coin boxes grow heavy with contributions for the war's living victims. I am sure everyone in Mt. Prospect will appreciate what they are doing and will respond gladly to their appeal to wear a poppy."

American Legion Auxiliary Notes

Mrs. G. Cunningham was hostess to the Auxiliary at her home on Monday night. A donation was made to the "Past President Parley." Mrs. Gilson and Mrs. Hauptly are attending a party at Orland Park hospital on Wednesday. Four units are furnishing strawberry shortcake for the patients there.

On Friday, May 31 Mrs. Gilson and Mrs. Hauptly will go to Hines hospital. Anyone having donations of clothing, call Mrs. Gilson. After the business meeting "Bingo" was played and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Youth Rally At South Church Sunday Afternoon

First Meeting of Northwest Suburban Youth Groups at 4:30

The first Northwest Suburban Youth Rally will be held at the South church on Sunday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock. Fifteen or more youth groups from churches in Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine will be represented in the gathering. Seven or eight Protestant denominations will be represented by these youth groups.

Guest speaker at the Rally is to be Rev. Victor E. Marriott, of the Department of Christian Education of the Chicago Church Federation. Rev. Mr. Marriott will bring a message especially appropriate to youth. Presiding at the service will be Carl Tolf, Jr., of St. Luke Lutheran church in Park Ridge. Another youth representative will read the Scripture. The evening prayer will be offered by Edwin Ira Stevens, pastor of the host church. Young folks of the South Church will act as registrars and ushers.

This Youth Rally is the first event of the sort tried in this area. If successful, it will doubtless be only the first of several to be held next Fall and Winter. It is sponsored by the Northwest Suburban Pastor's Fellowship of which Rev. Walter Spangler, Park Ridge, is president.

Child Training

Children are often able to dress and undress themselves long before their mothers realize it.

Woman's Club Spring Luncheon Tuesday, May 21

The Woman's club spring luncheon, one of the largest affairs of the year, will take place next Tuesday, May 21, at 12:30 p. m. in the Kildeer Country club. Summer styles and a bridal gown will be shown in a fashion show sponsored by the Mary Jane Sullivan shop. Club members will act as models.

Paid reservations must be made to Mrs. C. G. Kaiser, social chairman, before the luncheon.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Trygve Maseng, chairman, Mrs. W. T. Mott, Mrs. A. H. Mueller, Mrs. H. R. Noll, Mrs. C. F. Pankonin, Mrs. M. B. Pendleton, and Mrs. A. L. Roderick.

Mrs. C. G. Gallagher, president, and Mrs. H. W. Carlson, have been attending the Ill. Federation's state convention at the Hotel Sherman this week.

V. F. W. Auxiliary News

Social meeting will be held Friday at the home of Mrs. Wm. Frostenson, 3045 Sunnyside, Chicago. All members please meet at the N. W. station at 7:15 p. m. o'clock.

Saturday, May 4, Mrs. Emil Sporleder, Mrs. Arthur Flesch and Mrs. Paul Holste, attended the school of instruction at the Morrison hotel. A most impressive memorial service was held for all members deceased the past year, which included one of our own members, Mrs. Nellie Terpening. At the close of the meeting a most interesting and inspiring talk was given by our national president, Mrs. Ida Cohen. Don't forget the 4th district meeting Sunday, May 19, at Brookfield, Ill.

Our Poppy chairman, Mrs. Emil Greinke, announces Monday, May 27, as Poppy day for Mt. Prospect. As in other years the V. F. W. auxiliary and the American Legion will cooperate and the proceeds divided evenly. Each Buddy Poppy the "Flower of Remembrance" will symbolize a mute appeal for security against the havoc and disaster of another war. America's recognition of the Buddy Poppy as a symbol of the significance of Memorial day is certain to be stimulated by this emotional reaction to conditions abroad. A great humanitarian service made possible through the sale of Poppies is the maintenance of the V. F. W. National home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. This child welfare project, the only one of its kind in the United States, is dependent upon public support of the Buddy Poppy sale. One penny of each poppy sold helps provide food, clothing, shelter and education for those orphans of deceased veterans. Buy a Buddy Poppy.

Club Tenders Vote Of Thanks

The Mount Prospect Catholic Woman's club wishes to extend its thanks to all those who helped to make the third annual spring card party a huge success—to the merchants for their donations of door prizes and Fred Meeske for the coffee served at the party.

Thanks also to Mr. Harold Willson for his courtesy in granting the services and privileges of the Mount Prospect Country club.

Candid Cameramen Seal Socialites' Fate

In New York society it is the photographer's age. If the man with the candid camera snaps you at the right place and with the right people he can establish you socially. In 1940 he is as integral a part of a restaurant as the potted palms. It must be remembered that privacy and prohibition vanished simultaneously.

Jerome Zerbe, arche type of this new school of journalism, reveals many details of his unusual profession in the June issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine. His photographic files are filled with negatives of personages ranging from William K. Vanderbilt to Salvador Dali; Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow to Gertrude Stein. "With the exception of Mrs. Vincent Astor and J. P. Morgan, and the right man out for the evening with the wrong blonde," Mr. Zerbe says, "my experience as a society reporter has convinced me that most people are prospective lens lice."

A few years ago a group of shrinking violets among Manhattan's upper crust decided they were tired of the bustling atmosphere they encountered in such places as El Morocco and the Stork Club. They decided to get together and open a place where all photographers and columnists were barred. Alexander Woolcott whimsically dubbed it the Elbow Room. The label stuck and the retreat opened with much fanfare, the utmost in chi chi and charming decor. Among its virtues were listed comfortable chairs for dining, excellent cuisine and a first-rate wine card. The crush of high-class customers that followed was a seven-day wonder. Seven is used here advisedly because the Elbow Room hardly survived that long. To be successful these days a restaurant must pay a photographer much more than a chef. He is an indispensable must.

13 Confirmed At St. John's

Thirteen young people were confirmed in St. John Evangelical church of Arlington Heights Sunday, at 10:30 a. m. The solemn rites of holy confirmation were administered by the Rev. R. J. Kalwitz to the following confirmands: Richard Jahn, George Gaare, Robert Huber, Vernon Sauer, William Fritz, Joycelyn Peterson, Lorraine Blume, Evelyn Bencie, Shirley Zoellner, Wilma Fritz, all of Arlington Heights; and Margery Scharringhausen of Elk Grove township; Pearl Miller of Prospect Heights; and Marion Kottke of Mount Prospect.

The sanctuary was decorated with palms and cut flowers. Gowns were worn for the first time by the confirmands; the girls wearing white gowns, and the boys navy blue gowns. After the holy rite of confirmation, the confirmands were received into the membership of the church.

O.E.S. Girl's Club Card Party, Style Show Is Success

There were exclamations from all sides on last Thursday evening, when the models in the style show of knit garments appeared on the runway which extended through the hall of the Presbyterian dining room, at the annual card party which was sponsored by the O. E. S. Girl's club of Arlington Heights.

Those who gazed in fascination, decided that knitting is a hobby that really accomplishes things, as the proud wearers modeled sweaters, dresses, suits, and hats, which were all beautifully styled, for each individual.

The hats worn were all originals, planned to complete some knitted outfit, and looked very smart indeed. The entire show gave the impression that nothing is impossible, if one has the inclination, the yarn and the needles and a good instructor. The show was sponsored by the Garnette Knit Shop of Arlington Heights.

The room was well filled by those who enjoy the hobby of bridge, pinocle and other card games, and following the style show, the guests settled down to win the next rubber. At the close of the evening refreshments were served, and the door prizes awarded.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN DECORATOR

By

Helen Koues

Director, Good Housekeeping Studio

Summer Trivialities

There are lots of beguiling summer trivialities that cost little or nothing and add to summer's gay informal life. For the porch, for instance, the iron plant stands take all sorts of forms. A few are: the usual flower box on a stand, graceful spirals to hold three pots such as that illustrated, wall brackets for single, double or triple potted plants as well as low metal flower holders for the table. Bring some favorite plant from the garden to the porch which fits in with its color scheme. Your color scheme is a feature of it. Geraniums, white or pink, usually do well, and can be inexpensively replaced. Petunias, Rosy morn, are another steady bloomer in pink. Calendula are a bright yellow with which I have had success, providing they can be put in a sunny place. Brackets against the house, as they are in the shade are best filled with potted ivy or other greenery. For the table, the low stands which show a combination of flower holder and candles sometimes fitted with hurricane globes (to defeat the breeze), are a very decorative summer accessory.

Metal magazine racks are a downright comfort, besides giving a room-like, "lived-in" air to a porch or open terrace. Magazines and especially newspapers are kept in place instead of blowing about and scattering on a windy day.

Still other decorative items are the colorful jars, large and small, to be placed at the top of the steps, perhaps to hold hydrangea, ivy trained over a wire frame, or whatever large plant or small bush grows well in your part of the country. Of course the jars must be a part of the color scheme. Bright yellow or orange with green is most effective when the cushions are yellow. Smaller jars in the same color scheme or, reversing it, green with yellow, can be massed in groups against the house or in some corner where they act as ornamentation.

For the uncovered terrace the metal table with a gay parasol through its center with easily-moved chairs around it, fairly invites lemonade, "coke", a tea party, or a pleasant place to get those old letters written, which you can't bear to stay indoors to do. There was a time when these parasols were expensive, but there are many moderate priced sorts today.

If you live in the country a marker with your name is one of the attractive things to have. There are all sorts. The simplest is a strip of board nailed to a low stake one or two feet high, painted white with your name in the color of the shutters of your house, placed wherever the entrance to your house may be. Another type has a metal stake stuck in the ground with the sign swinging from it. Still others are in all sorts of decorative metal markers. One is a bird—blue jay holding up his head the distinct name—John Jones. They come in colors which may be had to fit your color scheme.

And speaking of markers, don't overlook those for gardens, and possible weather vanes for which perhaps the garage will hold a spot to tell you which way the wind blows — on a pleasant summer day.

Garden Club Plans for Flower Show, June 15, 16

Mohr Tells How To Preserve Blossoms for Show

The Garden Club Flower Show will be at the field house again this year, the week-end of June 15 and 16. Preliminary plans indicate that the entries should be more numerous than last year if the weather is suitable, and the For-est Preserve district will also have an interesting exhibit.

At the last meeting of the club Mr. Mohr of the Garfield Conservatory discussed planning for a show. In addition to advising the club on operating problems, he made several comments for the benefit of those intending to exhibit.

Mr. Mohr emphasized the importance of getting the flowers to the field house early on the morning of the exhibit, pointing out that the early entries always had particular attention, whereas those that came in with the last rush sometimes were not properly classified. The judges, he stated, were of course very careful to note the condition, not only of the flower, but also of the foliage, and in addition, where the classification called for the entry of one flower, or three flowers, the Judges would have to pass up any entry that included more. On the other hand, if the classification called for three stems, it did not matter how many flowers were on each stem.

This year, vases and baskets: are to be divided into several groups, depending upon the height of the container. This Mr. Mohr believed was important, as it was unfair, otherwise, for a large exhibit to compete with the limited display which is necessary in connection with a smaller vase or basket. It was also brought out that the flowers which one might be planning to enter could be held back several days, if it appeared they might pass their prime at the time of the show, by cutting and placing the flowers in the refrigerator. Similarly, a flower could be forced by placing it in warm water and leaving it there until the water has cooled.

Mr. Mohr also urged everyone to enter flowers, even though the specimens available might not appear to be as nice as some that were available earlier in the year, because the show is on a competitive basis and it is likely that what may seem the flowers in one garden probably has also affected the same class of flower in other gardens.

Mind Your Manners And Keep Your Man

CHARM as well as charity should begin at home, if a woman is wise and wants to keep a harmonious marriage. For too often a husband, the man she has promised to cherish, has to bear the brunt of nerves and tantrums from a woman who is famed far and wide for her gracious ways.

The fallacy that bad manners should be reserved for the home circle is illogical, according to Ruth Anna Read in an article appearing in May Good Housekeeping. Says Mrs. Read, women don't promise to love and cherish the grocery boy or the man who comes to read the meter, yet they never treat such people to the exhibitions of fits and sulks that patient husbands must witness and presumably forgive and forget.

"Why not try gentle treatment on your husband, just once, when he's not expecting it? He won't drop dead. Instead, if you persist in your experiments in conjugal courtesy—and there are countless opportunities for experiment as every wife knows—he'll probably pay you back in your own golden coin. People are like that."

Even husbands.

Art Instructor Talks To Juniors

The Junior Woman's club met Monday evening in the Lauterburg club room and enjoyed a talk which was given by Mr. Albert Gibas, art instructor in the north school.

During the business meeting plans were made for the Junior Woman's club spring dance which will be held this year at Itasca Country club on May 29. The Captivators will furnish music for the dancing, and the tickets are $1.50 per couple.

Floors Should Share In Plans for Summer

Comes summer once again and housewives all over the country will once more forget an important item when they put the "woolies" away for the season. That item? Their rugs. And thereby they not only cost themselves money in the long run but they sacrifice coolness and comfort when they don't remove those heavy winter floor coverings.

First of all, rugs should be cleaned once a year anyway, according to Maurine Shaw Holloway in the May issue of Better Homes and Gardens. Therefore, the problem of storing shouldn't occur, because they can be left at the cleaners. Miss Holloway points out that summer floor covering is no longer a matter of stenciled grass rugs. There is a choice of Sisal, Celophane, fiber, jute, cotton and linens, to name just a few summer materials.

The budget needn't creak too loudly, either, when your house goes into summer dress. Rugs ranging from around $10 for a lovely 9x12 foot rug, prices are elastic enough to fit any purse. Cotton rugs are among the most popular and inexpensive. They clean nicely and usually they are reversible so both sides may be utilized. So there is really no excuse for letting the house suffer when all its inmates are gay and cool in summer dress.

Kindergarten Host To Mothers At Circus

The mothers of the children of the kindergarten of the north school were guests at the performance of a One Ring Circus, which was held last Friday afternoon in the kindergarten room.

The children who had been training diligently as horses, dogs, elephants and other circus beasts, gave a splendid portrayal of these animals active in a circus ring. The tight rope walker resplendent in white with a large umbrella daintily walked a tight rope on the floor.

The show was complete with a ring master in a tall black hat, who cracked a whip in professional fashion as a tiger rolled a ball around the ring, and the clowns gayly cavorted about. In honor of Mother's day and in true circus style, pink lemonade and cookies were served to the guests and performers.

The second play is "Snow White and the Three Little Pigs" with Carla Blocker, Patsy Collins, Carol Engel, Jean Freymuth, Jane Hildebrand, Rhoda Manley, Jacqueline Riley and Audrey Sauer taking part.

Those who will appear on "Marjory Bowes' Amateur Hour" are Betty Davis, Burneta Burns, Jean Bauer, Bernice Schom, Nancy Crumlish, LaEla Garmis, Rosemary Heller, Joan Pate, Lorraine Jackson, Lois Knaack, Nancy Kunkler, Carol Peter, Pauline Russell, Nan Sommer and Geraldine Williams.

These plays were written for the groups by Mrs. Bruce Jarvis and Mrs. Ross Richards, guardians for the Camp Fire girls in Arlington Heights.

The evening's program will close with information about the Camp Fire summer camp which is held each year at Camp Nawakwa at South Haven, Mich. Several girls from the Arlington Heights groups attended the camp in the last two years and are most enthusiastic about it.

The $5.00 which was given in a drawing recently by the Lambda Sigma sorority was won by Edward Busse of Mt. Prospect. The Sorority held their last meeting at the home of Miss Hazel Sauer of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Fred Utterback was hostess to the Friday bridge club last week for a 1:30 dessert luncheon. Mrs. Gene Heller and Mrs. Guy Baxter received high honors at cards.

Arlington Chemistry Class Visits Chicago Steel Plant

Students Take 5 Mile Walk To See Steel Processes

by E. B. THORNTON, Arlington high school instructor in chemistry and physics.

The Arlington high school chemistry classes were afforded an opportunity to visit the six hundred acre plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, located at the east end of 89th street in South Chicago, last week Wednesday. During their five mile walk around the buildings and grounds the students obtained first hand knowledge of the processes of steel and pig iron production.

The first and most interesting spectacle was the operation of three large "Bessemer" converters in a dim cavernous building. Though called the "Bessemer" process this method of making steel from pig iron was invented by an American named Kelly. To Kelly the patent was issued by the U. S. Patent Office thus recognizing his prior claims to the discovery since it was over Bessemer's prior application that this patent was granted. Since the term "Bessemer" process is commonly used in the industry little is ever heard of Kelly.

Each converter was charged with molten pig iron from the ladles in which it had been heated, as it was taken from the blast furnaces elsewhere in the plant.

Twenty five tons of steel were made in each converter in a period of about twenty minutes with the evolution of many beautiful showers of sparks. Flames of twelve to eighteen feet high were blown upward through the flues as the charge of air was forced through the converter.

From the balcony on which the students stood it was possible to watch these converters and at the same time observe the tapping of a large ladle of finished steel. This steel was tapped into tall ingots that were standing on the cars of a train. The train, when loaded, with filled ingots, would be drawn out of the shed and hauled to the soaking pits. Here the billets of steel would be heated again in preparation for the rolling of the steel into various shapes.

When the ladle, from which the ingots were being poured, was empty it was quite interesting to observe how adeptly the traveling crane operator inverted the ladle and tapped it on the floor, as a housewife would tap a sauce pan on the sink, in order that any slag remaining in the red hot ladle would be dislodged. A workman then stepped up under the hot ladle to scrape off any remaining slag that might stick to the ladle.

From this building the group entered a rolling mill in which steel was being rolled from billets of steel. A furnace at one end of the building preheated the billets. They were then passed through successive rollers, each reducing the diameter of the steel until the desired size was obtained. Water sprayed on the hot rollers produced an extremely intense hissing which precluded any conversation. Workmen sprinkled salt on the hot billets which produced a loud report when the salt-covered steel encountered the rollers. It was said to be used to help remove scale from the steel.

The north end of this building housed a large punch press which was used to cut the steel rod just made into lengths as ordered by the customer. Immediately to the east of this was the shipping room in which the cut lengths were being strapped together for shipment before they had completely cooled.

From here the group walked past the blast furnaces which are in continual operation and in which the pig iron is made for the Bessemer and open hearth processes. To the north of the blast furnaces were the concrete pits which had a capacity of several million tons of iron ore and limestone. The ore being shipped from Minnesota and the limestone from Michigan, both by water.

At the northeast corner of the grounds the classes saw the one hundred eight ton capacity, open hearth furnaces in operation. When we arrived an operator was charging the furnaces with pans of scrap iron weighing several hundred pounds each. From his seat at the back of the machine the operator would grasp a pan of scrap iron with a claw at the end of a twelve foot, rod-like arm, propel the entire cart forward, extending the arm with its burden into the opened door of the furnace. Rotating the arm he would thereby dump the contents of the pan into the white hot interior and then quickly and concisely withdraw the arm and drop the pan onto the small car from which it came. The open hearth furnace operates at an internal temperature of around 3000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Along the west side of the aisle down which we walked was located a control board for each furnace.

Ninth District Director Busy

As ninth district director, Mrs. V. A. Pecchia is finding her days very busy attending the many social and business functions of the American Legion Auxiliary in her district.

On Wednesday she was a special guest of the 5th district at a luncheon in the Gramercy hotel in Chicago. The 9th district has been fortunate in winning a competitive membership campaign for three consecutive years from the 5th district, both members of the Cook County Council, and the 5th district presented a stunt at the last Cook county meeting in payment of their loss and invited Mrs. Pecchia as luncheon guest on Wednesday.

American Legion Auxiliary Notes

Mrs. P. Le Roy May, 921 South Dunton will be hostess to the American Legion auxiliary at a 1:30 dessert luncheon on Tuesday, May 21.

Mrs. Clyde Jones and Mrs. A. Rector of Merle Guild Unit No. 208, the American Legion Auxiliary, together with members of Barrington and Mt. Prospect units, took a treat of strawberry short cake to the Veterans at the convalescent hospital at Orland Park on Wednesday.

Mrs. John Peroutka, activities chairman, is asking the members and friends of Merle Guild Unit to save rummage for the sale at Legion House on Saturday, May 25. Her telephone number is 1328-R.

Mrs. Anna Briscoe of Chicago enjoyed Mother's day at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Sebert.

Mrs. James Bown entertained a group of relatives on Monday when her mother, Mrs. Harry Fultz, of Villa Grove, Ill., and her sisters, Miss Betty Fultz, Miss Mildred Fultz and Miss Elizabeth Fultz and her brother, Purvis, were her guests. Miss Marjory Noble of Kenosha, Wis., was also a guest.

Mrs. Joe Podzimek of Chicago was a guest at the home of Mrs. Jacob Gerhardt on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weinrich, of 931 N. Highland rejoice over the arrival of a 9 lb. 10 oz. daughter, May 9, given the name Nadean Joy.

One dial interested several members of the group. It was marked "Roof temperature" and was marked off 25-26-27-30-31-32. The hand pointed to about 29. Now the day was cold and rainy, but it was hard to understand how the roof of that building could be as cold as 29, when it was right over the furnaces and it was not near that cold outside so a guide was consulted.

He explained that it was not the building temperature that was recorded there. This was the temperature of the open hearth furnace roof. Also it was not marked in degrees but in hundreds of degrees so that this furnace was operating at a temperature of about 2900 degrees Fahrenheit at the time. He also mentioned that the crew of the furnace must watch this roof temperature closely as when the temperature exceeds 3000 degrees the roof of the furnace was quite likely to fall in.

From this plant we walked to another shed in which larger blocks of steel were being heated in furnaces called "soaking pits" and then rolled out into slabs. The red hot billets here were about eight or nine feet high and three or four feet square. After being heated to a uniform bright red heat, giant pincers gripped the end of the billet. They carried it over to the rollers which were so near the block warmed up chilly students as easily as a firecracker.

In this mill the billets were rolled into slabs of red hot steel about eight or ten inches thick. A powerful press sheared off the irregular end and then trimmed the slab into a standard size. A workman, his face protected from the heat by a mask, swung a long handled, numbering hammer, to stamp the end of the billet with an identifying number. After this the slab, still at a dull red heat, was picked up easily by another swinging crane, carried over to another storage room and stacked neatly with others of the same size.

This concluded the processes in operation. The group had been able to see where the ore arrived at the docks. They saw the blast furnaces which converted this ore, with limestone and coke, into pig iron. They observed this pig iron being made into steel by the "Bessemer" and the more common, open hearth process. And finally they saw the steel, made by these processes, being rolled, cut, strapped, tagged and loaded into cars for shipment to the customer ordering the steel.

'Propaganda Is Inevitable,' Says U. of I. Man

'Though Persistent, It Need Not Be Fatal to Intelligent Decision,' Adds Sociologist.

Propaganda is inevitable with modern civilization and social conditions, concludes Dr. J. W. Albigh, University of Illinois sociologist. But he adds that "although it is pervasive and persistent, it need not be fatal to intelligent and popular decisions."

He believes that "intellectuals in America have probably become oversuspicious of their sources of information, whereas the common man is as yet inadequately suspicious. The intellectual's oversuspicion and the under suspicion of the common man are a dangerous combination," he warns. "In both cases they are overgiven to righteous indignation. And righteous indignation is a pushover for the propagandist."

Professor Albigh recently published a widely noticed book on "Propaganda and Public Opinion." He defines propaganda as "any special pleading from a concealed source."

He points out that propagandists "persistently appeal to the emotions of their subjects. Argument and discussion openly carried on is one thing; veiled propaganda appealing to hate, fear, pride, selfishness, greed, and the like is quite a different process, short-circuiting discussions of the issue."

"Almost inevitably, the propagandist becomes a liar. He not only distorts, he also fabricates. He is usually driven by the logic of events to more and more extreme falsehoods."

"Such falsification is most effective if it cannot be contradicted because the means of communication are controlled. This is obviously true of much national propaganda in wartime. When war is declared, truth is the first casualty."

"Just as individuals in face-to-face conversation exaggerate the stories, rumors, and information they transmit so that they may gain effectiveness, the propagandist exaggerates in the interest of his cause."

"The propagandist further distorts by selection. He is not concerned with providing impartial data. He has a cause to plead. His problem consists principally in selecting such information and such social suggestions as are best calculated to evoke the desired responses."

Miss Dorothy Gerken Weds 'Curly' Rodewald

Miss Dorothy Gerken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gerken of Arlington Heights, became the bride of Mr. Marvin Rodewald, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rodewald, of Arlington Heights, in a very lovely candle light service in the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church at Montrose and Laverne ayes, in Chicago on Saturday afternoon at 4 p. m.

A white net and charmingly lace gown was worn by the bride and her veil was of tulle with a Juliette cap. She carried white french baby iris.

The maid of honor and the three bridesmaids were gowned in light blue tulle and carried pink carnations and blue delphinium. Miss Lorraine Volley served as maid of honor and Mrs. Leonard Rodewald, Mrs. Ray Steil of Des Plaines and Mrs. Wilfred Gerken of Arlington Heights were the bridesmaids.

Leonard Rodewald was best man for his brother and Mr. Wilfred Gerken, Mr. William Schmitt and Mr. Walter Meyer served as ushers. The church altar was very beautifully arranged with palms, ferns and white iris, snapdragons and carnations, and white candles, which shed a soft glow as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

Miss Ruth Kruchell sang "Because" preceding the ceremony and Mr. Haseman, formerly an Arlington Heights resident, presided at the organ.

Immediately following the service the bridal party and the close relatives of the bride and groom enjoyed a bridal dinner which was served at Simson's and later in the evening some two hundred guests arrived to attend the wedding reception, which also was held at Simson's, where a happy evening was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

The mother of the bride was gowned in powder blue net and carried pink tipped carnations and the mother of the groom wore rosewood lace and carried blue carnations.

The bride and groom are both graduates of the Arlington Heights high school and Dorothy has been employed at the Chicago Title and Trust company for the past two years. The groom, better known as "Curly" is owner of the Rodewald News Cream Harbor, and is well known to all of Arlington Heights.

The young couple left for a two weeks' trip to Colorado and other points west and upon their return will be at home in the Rodewald apartment at 7 W. Davis st. for the present.

Correct Way To Wash Nylon Stockings

Now that the new stockings made of coal, air and water practically are on our feet, it's high time we gave some thought to keeping these fashion sensations clean.

With rumors of this and that filling the air about the washing of nylon stockings, we've consulted the American Institute of Laundering, which has become to the laundry industry what the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry is to the American Medical Association, to find the very best known method of washing nylon stockings.

And—we came out of the interview with some definite rules for you to follow.

According to the tests made by the research department of the Institute, these rules are simple but following them should eliminate unnecessary risk in the washing of this new fashion sensation.

1.—Water used for washing and rinsing nylon stockings should not exceed a temperature of 100 degrees F. To us, this means lukewarm, or the same temperature water as that used for bathing babies.

2.—A rich suds gained through use of neutral soap should be created before the stockings are wet.

3.—Because dirt is washed off nylon—instead of washed out—stockings need be whisked about in the sudsy water for no more than two minutes.

4.—Finished with washing, excess suds and water should be squeezed—not wrung—out.

5.—Five (5) complete changes of lukewarm water should be used for rinsing. (The Institute considers any lesser number of complete changes of rinsing water inadequate for the thorough rinsing of other fabrics and nylon, too, can be freed from all suds and loosened soil by the same number of clean rinse waters.)

6.—Without removing any of the last rinse water, the stockings should be dropped onto a bath towel and rolled up for a moment to absorb excess moisture.

7.—Then they should be hung up to dry in a normal room temperature.

Under ordinary room temperatures, nylon stockings become completely dry within 15 minutes. Handled in this expert manner, your very first washing of nylon stockings should be successful.

Other points reported favorably upon by the Institute is the lack of shrinkage and the excellence of the color fastness as observed by the tests made.

Restricted Shopping

Three gunmen, one with a market basket slung over his arm, "went shopping" at the Parkview Savings and Loan association, Cleveland, Ohio, just after an armored truck had left $17,000 in currency and $200 in nickels. The bills already had been locked in a safe. The gunmen took the nickels.

Young Women Flyers

Young women really want to fly. By a margin of more than 11 to 1 the students of Simmons college, Boston, voted in favor of an aviation course in their school and in other women's colleges.

Itasca Was Incorporated Fifty Years Ago In 1890

A. G. Chessman
First Mayor; William
First Village Clerk

The minutes of the board of trustees of the Village of Itasca are written in the plain hand of its village clerk, Wm. Chessman, in five volumes. These minutes are interesting reading.

There were some exciting times when the board of trustees was divided. A tavern keeper who was a member of the board, attempted to keep out a competitor. The vote was evenly divided each time the matter was brought to a vote, the president refusing to cast the deciding vote. The minutes tell of the vicissitudes of the office of the village treasurer. At one time the police officer was ordered to get the books and the money that was in the hands of the treasurer, whom the board had neglected to rehire. There was a number of law suits. Some times bonds had to be issued to pay the attorney's fees. Sometimes the village won and some times it lost.

The first meeting of the board of trustees of the village of Itasca was held March 15, 1890 following an election on March 4, 1890, called by County Clerk, M. E. Ellsworth. The call specified that the judges of that election be A. G. Chessman, H. F. Lawrence and Herman H. Franzen.

Herman H. Franzen is the only person with an active part in organization of the village of Itasca, who is alive today. He served as village clerk pro tem at the organization meeting. Within a month a regular election was held and Wm. Chessman, son of the president, A. G. Chessman, was elected clerk. He has been elected every time he has been a candidate since that time. During the entire fifty years he has only had opposition at two elections.

In those early days Itasca people were not all of the same mind. At its first election F. H. Hattendorf and Wm. Wischstadt both received the same number of votes. Lots were drawn and Wischstadt was the lucky man. Mr. Hattendorf was later appointed treasurer at a salary of $1.50 a year.

The first meeting of the village board was held in the Chessman mill, situated south of the present Clover real estate office.

At the first meeting of the new board, its members offered to serve without salary, but evidently changed their minds at the second meeting; original motion specifying no salaries was rescinded and the yearly fee of $1.50 was substituted. The village clerk was paid $30 a year.

The first tax levy was $75 a year, which was all that was needed to operate the village as the dram shop license was $500 a year. Wm. Baruth, a member of the board, held the first license.

Residents in those days went to bed early and arose early. Saloons closed at 11 p. m., but were allowed to reopen at 3 a. m.

In 1891 the official meeting room of the board was changed to the Smith hall above the present Clover real estate office. Oil street lamps were installed that year at a cost of $150. The lights were trimmed, filled and lighted at a cost of $8 a month.

Itasca's First Mayor--

Aside from appropriation and tax levy ordinances, the chief function of the board was the passage of ordinances ordering the building of wooden sidewalks. There were many times when the street commissioner was ordered to force collection from delinquent property owners.

It was in 1893 that the meetings became so lively that a special ordinance was passed, limiting members to talks of ten minutes on any one subject. They were required to rise and address the chair when they desired to be heard.

After serving four years at yearly salaries of $1.50 the board members decided in 1894 to raise their pay to 50c a meeting. The clerk's salary was raised to $35 a year and the treasurer was paid a commission of 1 1/2% on expenditures.

The street commissioner was ordered to collect $1.50 poll tax from every male between the ages of 21 and 50 years. He collected from only 66 men during the succeeding year.

In 1895 when A. D. Jacobus was president, Mr. Smith leased to the village a strip of land at the corner of Elm and Orchard being used as a road, for the yearly rental of one cent, in order to retain title to the tract. A peddler's license was passed that same year and the salary of the village clerk was boosted to $40 a year.

In 1896, the board decided to build a calaboose. Having an opportunity to rent out part of the calaboose for a barber shop, the village became a landlord. The barber furnished the coal for his own shop and the jail. When warm weather arrived he asked the board

American Pioneers

The Chessman family are pioneers. The great grandfather of Wm. Chessman was a Revolutionary war soldier. His grandfather, Wm. Chessman resided in New Jersey, where his father, A. G. Chessman, was born March 4, 1832. The family came to Illinois in the early fifties settling on the Chessman farm, a mile and a half north-east from Itasca.

The nearest postoffice was Sagone (Putten Hill). In 1863 Abraham Lincoln appointed A. G. Chessman as postmaster of Sagone and the office was moved from Putten Hill to the home of the Chessmans. Mail arrived only twice a week. The star mail route extended from Elmhurst to Duntun (Arlington Heights).

With the arrival of the railroad, the postoffice was moved to Itasca. It was there that the Chessman family moved, selling their farm to John Godfrey. Mr. Chessman conducted a mill and his son, Wm. G. Chessman, who helped his father on the farm until he was 21 years of age, became a carpenter and later a painter. He continued in the latter trade until a fall from a ladder forced his retirement.

Mr. Wm. G. Chessman was born March 20, 1858, and is over eighty-two years old, and is probably the eldest, as well as the oldest village clerk in the United States.

Mr. Chessman married Miss Carrie Whittier, a young school teacher in 1883. There are three sons, Hervy B., and Richard of Itasca, and Serl of Los Angeles. Mrs. Chessman died March 16, 1833.

Itasca Received Start When Railroad Arrived

Farmer-Physician Subdivides Land and Gives Town Its Name

The early history of Itasca dates back to 1841. Dr. Elijah J. Smith, of Morristown, N. J., a young medic, graduated from the Medical school of Physicians and Surgeons of New York City came west to Detroit, Michigan by rail, then by boat to Chicago. He found that locality too wet and muddy for him, and not conducive to good health. Purchasing a horse, he filled saddle bags with drugs and medicines and journeyed westward coming to the present site of Itasca.

This locality pleased him and the climatic conditions were better and the rolling prairie good for farming. He secured a quarter section from the government with the title duly signed by president in 1843. Following this, he went east for a time returning to make his home here. For many years he engaged in farming and practiced medicine. His house now stands as originally built and is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKenzie. An interesting story of the big barn tells the story that the building contained not a single nail. The huge timbers, cut miles from here in Elk Grove; were hand-hewn and fastened together with wooden pegs. The only tools used were a hack saw, broad axe, a crude augur and a sledge hammer.

Following the arrival of Dr. Smith, other families located in this section, among them the Chessman family in 1852. William Chessman, grandfather of William and

Itasca's Present Mayor--

HENRY LUEHRING, completing twelve years on board; mayor since 1933.

Len Chessman took up land and also purchased from a homesteader who was moving to another locality. He built his house on land a mile north-east of Itasca on the road leading east, north of the village. On his property and near by land was located the community of Sagone, where the post office was established and also a blacksmithing business. Mail was carried by horseback from Elmhurst to Sagone, Mr. A. G. Chessman, son of the senior pioneer William Chessman was postmaster.

In 1869 the Eddy family arrived, locating on that place now owned by the present day Mahler family on Irving Park Boulevard. Of this family, Miss Carrie Eddy, now Mrs. H. F. Lawrence remained and continued to make her home here engaging in teaching in near by communities, Roselle, Meacham and Bloomingdale and in Itasca, until her marriage to Mr. Lawrence.

Miss Eddy at one time lived in the home of Dr. Smith who had married Miss Mary Allen, a member of the early day family of Allen who played a prominent part in the early times of Itasca. The first school house built in the '60's near the present location and is now the home of the Weber family and Mrs. Lella Eggleston Woodworth. Some of the early day school teachers include Miss Ellis and Miss Lombard, Mr. Sabin and Miss Carrie Eddy in 1874. Following the long line of teachers from 1874 to 1892 when the new school house on the hill was built we note one, Miss Frances Bartlett, whose family were early settlers of Bartlett. She had the honor of entering the new school house as teacher and remained several years, returning here to teach following the death of the late Mr. Hazelton.

Dr. Smith gave the land for the school building and assisted in the financing of the building. We also see his aid in the building of the Presbyterian church. This church grew out of a Sunday school held in a railroad car between 1880-1885 when the present church building was erected by Grimm of Wooddale. Mr. E. O. Nichols a conductor on the Chicago and Pacific Railway organized the first Sunday school and through his efforts the Presbyterian church was established.

As time went on and the people of this community progressed, there was great need of a railroad to develop a village as Dr. Smith had conceived. The Chicago and Pacific Railway planned their right-of-way from Chicago to Elgin thru this section of the country, however their first intention was to go south of Itasca taking in communities on another line of highway. Dr. Smith and some other public spirited men of this section, Mr. Meacham, Col. Huff of Roselle and Mr. Bartlett and men of like nature donated land for a right of way also large sums of money that the railroad be extended through Itasca instead of Bloomingdale. In 1873 the first railroad train went thru Itasca under conductor Flynn and the men who gave so generously were passengers. This road was later bought by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Co.

In 1874 Dr. Smith platted the village, then progress seemed to be the only idea in the minds of the inhabitants. The community grew and blossomed forth in its great development. Dr. Smith erected a building at the corner of Orchard and Walnut street, which was sold to H. F. Lawrence for a general store.

About this time Dr. Smith selected the name of "Itasca" for the village, having in mind the name of Lake Itasca, the source of the Mississippi river.

The postoffice of Sagone was moved to the new town, A. G. Chessman continuing as postmaster. H. F. Lawrence in whose store the postoffice was located, served as deputy postmaster.

Dr. Smith's residence was built in 1865 on the location of its first selection; as the family grew and business developed, additions were added as needed. Larger barns were built and tenant houses erected. Following his death in 1888, the property fell to his heir Frank Smith.

Another early family, the Eggleston family located on the present location of the Itasca Sweet Shop and erected a hotel. In the meantime Mr. A. G. Chessman had engaged in the feed and lumber business north of the railroad track. His business employed many men who made their headquarters at the Eggleston hotel. The late Mrs. Eggleston spent the latter years in Itasca with her daughter, Mrs. Woodworth.

Time passed on and in later years, fire destroyed the first building Dr. Smith built, on the corner of Orchard and Walnut; this was immediately rebuilt. Fire also destroyed the Chessman feed mill in the Nineteens.

The Schroeder family came to Addison township in early days and later carried on a blacksmithing business in the township of Addison and Sagone moving to Itasca engaging in the blacksmith trade here, until it was replaced by a gas station on property purchased of the Schroeder family.

Lions Club To Honor Clerk and Itasca Pioneers

William G. Chessman,
Only Village Clerk Since
Organization of Village

The recently formed Itasca Lions club has the honor of planning the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the village of Itasca and paying homage to its village clerk, William G. Chessman, who has held that position as many years as Itasca is old.

Itasca lays claim to possessing the oldest village clerk in years and in point of service in the United States. "If any other municipality can deny Itasca's claim, let them speak up," is the challenge that Dr. Schroeder, president of the Lions club, has hurled through the press.

The birthday of Itasca and golden anniversary of public service for Mr. Chessman will be observed in a dinner to be held at the Itasca Country club, Wednesday, May 22. Wallace McClay, chairman of the program committee has announced that Rev. Munsterman, superintendent of Evangelical Home for Children and Aged will speak on the subject, "Abiding Faith in the Principles of Democracy."

There is special music, singing and other attractions. Patriotism to the home village and to the country itself will be the keynote of the evening. Colors will be presented by Itasca Legion Post.

Reservations have been made for three hundred guests. Members of the village board will be guests of honor.

Six Mayors

There have been only six men who were heads of the Itasca municipal government during the 50 years of its existence. Three of the five served in that capacity 12 years. They are A. G. Chessman,

Village Clerk For 50 Years

WILLIAM G. CHESSMAN, veteran village clerk, is seated before desk that he has used during the fifty years he has been village clerk. The desk, constructed by hand, is over a hundred years old and is an heirloom of the Chessman-Whittier family.

H. H. Franzen and Dr. G. F. Schroeder. The present mayor, W. Luehring, completes his eighth year in 1941.

The years served by the six men are:

A. G. Chessman, 1890-1902.
A. D. Jacobus, 1902-1905.
H. H. Franzen, 1905-1917.
Aug. Friedrichs, 1918-1921.
Dr. G. F. Schroeder, 1921-1933.
W. Luehring, 1933-

H. H. Franzen was a member of the board of trustees two years, 1897-99. His name appears frequently thruout the minutes of the board for the fifty years.

Dr. Schroeder was a member of the board eight years before becoming its president. Mr. Luehring was trustee of the village twelve years and when his present term expires has served twenty consecutive years as a village official.

to purchase awnings to keep the sun out of the barber shop and jail.

The marshal was placed in charge of the calaboose and was paid 15c for every tramp that was given lodging over night. The marshal had to provide one free meal for the tramp out of that 15c. During the winter of 1896-1897, there were 55 tramps given accommodations and the marshal collected $8.25.

The April election in 1899 was spirited. Messrs Senne and Poust received the same number of votes. The board decided that a penny should be flipped three times, the winner to be the man who won the flip twice out of the three. Senne was the winner.

Telephone service arrived in Itasca in 1899. The village purchased the present park for $250 the same year.

When 1900 arrived the duties of the street commissioner became so arduous he was awarded a salary of $1.50 a day for himself and an additional $1.50 when he used a team.

During the period between 1900 and 1908, there were many small "wars" and litigations, but they were all settled and in 1908 the board members decided that they were entitled to a salary of $1 a meeting.

Ice from the creek flowing thru the village park was sold to farmers at 30c a single box load.

Thoughts of the village had turned to fire protection and a Howe chemical engine with 300 feet of hose was purchased for $550. The following year a hose cart was purchased and in 1910, 600 feet of fire hose.

Early in 1914 a resolution was passed inviting the Western United Gas, Light and Coke Co. to bring gas into Itasca. An ordinance extending such a franchise was passed April 27, 1914.

May 1, 1916—Street committee was instructed to put screens around the calaboose, to see that front door was kept locked at all times (The jail evidently had the welcome mat out at all times).

Jan. 7, 1918—Elections held for first time in John H. Senne hall. Committee of three appointed with instructions to consult an attorney regarding bonding the village to build a village hall.

Aug. 12, 1919—Contract let for building village hall at cost of $10,-

New Building Replaces 50 Year Old School

Just 50 years ago a need for a new school building in Itasca was felt and although there was some opposition the plans were carried out. The architect was A. G. Chessman, father of Wm. Chessman. The excavating was done by Jim Batten and the painting by Wm. Chessman.

The cost of the building was around $4800 and being the first brick school building in this part of the county it was considered one of the very best.

Wm. Chessman followed his father as a school board member and served the community faithfully for about 40 years, giving much time and honest effort to the needs of the school. He was always very conscientious and quick to sense the needs of both pupils and teachers. His wife taught for many years, and working together they helped to shape the policies and character of many of Itasca's present citizens.

For the past several years there has been again the cry for a new school and again some opposition. It was not until 1939 that a vote for a new building and site could be carried. A large majority voted for a site on the north side of town where 6 1/2 acres was bought from B. B. Clover for $5,000.00 and the 948. Sept. 11, 1920—Board met in village hall for first time.

Sept. 6, 1921—Motion made to buy stumps for president and members of the board.

June 16, 1923—Board meets to consider contract with the Interurban Public Service company for lighting village streets.

May 9, 1924—Ordinance passed establishing board of local improvements in anticipation of the construction of a water works system. Ordinance was presented May 25, 1925; construction was started in 1926.

March 1, 1932—Zoning board approved.

Dec. 16, 1932—Passed ordinance providing for sewer system costing $243,800.

old site and building were auctioned off and sold to B. B. Clover for $5,000.00.

The school board was very fortunate in selling the $28,000 4 1/2% bonds at a premium of $3,155.00, which made it possible for them to contract for a four room $32,000 brick building. Ground was broken for the new building near the first of the year 1940 and it is progressing at a pleasing rate under the able supervision of Edgar C. Hanebuth, architect from Elmhurst.

Of the many bidders, Axel Johnson of Chicago gave the best and lowest bid for the construction of the school.

Under the present plan the school will be ready for the 1940 September opening. The building is large enough to adequately care for the pupils at the present time, one extra room to be finished when needed, and the plans provide for future enlargement.

Some of the organizations of the town have shown great interest in assisting with the work.

The Itasca Woman's club has raised a goodly sum of money to finance a tennis court on the grounds. The Itasca Lions club has very generously offered to provide a baseball diamond which will fill a very definite need.

During the years when Arthur Hoveland was principal and Miss Blanche Emmons and Mrs. Korista were teachers, there was an organization in the school known as Woodcraft girls. Miss Hanson carried on the work for a time after Mrs. Korista left. Then when the organization disbanded the original group was left with a sum of money which they have now turned over to the school board to be used for landscaping. A certain part of this sum will be used for a special tree to be dedicated to the memory of Mr. Hoveland.

Joe Arreger, of the Medinah Nursery, has given his time in planning the landscaping and is also donating liberally with trees and shrubs. Before the landscaping can be completed, there is a need for clay and dirt fill and the board would graciously receive any such donations.

The school board, Elmer Franzen, president; Geo. Goeddeke, clerk, and Jessie Beaver, deserves a great deal of credit and loyalty from the community. They have worked hard and faithfully to represent the people who elected them and have succeeded in bringing to the town a school building that will be the joy and pride of every citizen for the next fifty years. We hope, Mr. Chessman, they will leave as good a record for the directors of future years as you and your fellow directors did for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bradford spent Thursday evening with the Wright family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee and children visited in Evanston and Chicago on Sunday.

Mrs. A. A. Fassbender was taken seriously ill last week. Following an examination at the Lutheran Deaconess hospital in Chicago an operation was found necessary which was performed on Saturday morning. Reports following the operation have been favorable. Mrs. Fassbender has not enjoyed real good health for a number of years, but her naturally buoyant spirit hid this fact from her friends. We trust that this spirit will serve her well on the road to recovery.

Mrs. D. Wright and son, Robert, and Mrs. Tom Johnson were callers in Evanston on Tuesday.

Twenty-five friends and neighbors surprised Mr. Schamahorn in honor of his birthday last Saturday evening. Mr. Hardt of Des Plaines, furnished music, which added to the merry-making. A delicious lunch was served which was topped off with a birthday cake baked by their neighbor, Mrs. Wright.

The Misses Marjorie and Elaine Mohr spent Sunday here with their sister's family.

Mrs. Howard Stryker entertained her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hartman and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schaum all of Naperville, Indiana, last week-end. They brought her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Hartman and Mrs. Landis with them, who returned to their Wisconsin homes on Monday.

Eleven babies were brought to the Child Health Station last Wednesday. A meeting of the child Welfare committee was held and officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Frank Utpadel; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. C. Wieder; Ways & Means chairman, Mrs. F. Zollner; Service chairman, Mrs. J. Nielson.

Mrs. D. Wright received word from Iowa that her father, Mr. Clarence Mease had returned to the hospital suffering from nasal hemorrhages. Mr. Mease, who made many friends while visiting here, had been operated on last fall and seemed to be in good health when his daughter saw him last month.

The supper sponsored by the Presbyterian Dramatic club was a success in all ways in spite of handicaps of illness and weather. The club is grateful to all who assisted in preparing and serving it. Most of the 225 diners remained to enjoy the one-act play put on by the club as an extra feature free of charge. The play was a one-act play with a rural life setting and was directed by a club member, Mrs. H. Mayer. The young people who took part were Shirley Ward, Marcella Johnson, Lorraine Schmidt, James Neagles, Jr., Leonard Gieseke, W. James Utpadel and Edw. Wesolek, Jr.

There will be announcements over the radio from station WCFL from June 2 to 14 inviting organized labor and all of their friends to attend this celebration, so listen to the Labor Flashes over this station.

There will be games and prizes at this celebration; the major prize will be a five room frame residence with garage attached which will be given to the holder of the lucky picnic ticket which are selling at 50 cents each.

Just think of it a full day of picnic plus a chance to win this beautiful home all on one 50 cent ticket. You do not have to be present to win this major prize.

This home is now nearing completion at 1753 Forest ave. in Des Plaines, Ill.

For out of town visitors convenience we have erected arrows along the highways directing you to this home, come and visit this home and see Des Plaines.

Follow the arrows to the home. The celebration will be at Ehrhardt's Grove, on Talcott rd. just two miles west of Harlem ave., Park Ridge, Ill.

A ROLLER SKATING CLUB FOR HIGGINS-CANFIELD

How does this appeal to you? Miss Mildred Zimmer of Higgins-Canfield tells us that her League is planning on organizing a roller-skating club of only Walther Leaguers. You will remember that last summer their school hall burned down; well, now it has been rebuilt and the floor is of the composition that makes roller-skating a real pleasure.

Personally, I think it is a splendid idea, for it will not only give us a place to get our exercise, but it will also afford a special place where we will meet fellow Walther Leaguers who probably will have many of our own interests.

Miss Zimmer's League also plans to have regular emblems and sweaters for the members. How about it? What is your opinion? If you are interested just get in touch with Miss Zimmer at 5520 Canfield rd., Norwood Park Station, Chicago, or call Newcastle 2445. I hope by fall we will have a fairly large roller-skating club.

PALATINE PLANS SOCIAL AT DEER GROVE

The annual election of the Palatine Walther League was held Monday. The officers elected are president, Ray Hinrichs; vice president, Bernice Linneman; secretary, Leona Gaare; corresponding secretary, Gertrude Scholow; treasurer, Harold Scholow.

The topic discussion and social will be held in Deer Grove Monday, May 20. The social will consist of a wiener roast and possibly a number of games. Everyone is requested to meet at the school house at 7:15 p. m.

Congratulations to Miss Dorothy Gerken and Marvin Rodewald on their recent marriage. Dorothy is a member of the Senior League of Arlington Heights.

before daylight so close under the window heaven seemed just over the hill. The brown creeper came to the breakfast one morning, searching the trunk of the big tree, to the profit of himself and the tree, in contrast to the WPA workers who have denuded our street of four trees this season. This morning the air was full of the anvil chorus of whistlers and white crowned sparrows, antiphonally tinkling thru the rain; the white crowned sparrow is a rare visitor, seldom singing during migration, but, conditions being to his liking this morning, he gave several performances with encores so that, standing near, we might see the tiny swellings of his little throat—a handsome fellow, he! Into this amiable and musical company was welcomed the dapper overbird, attending to his own affairs and sure of a welcome to his favorite haunts; the gathering was completed then with the arrival of the cardinals, like the king and queen at a reception. One blithe afternoon, when the redheaded woodpecker, the bluejay and the cardinal were aligned on the picket fence, we felt that we had entertained Barrymore, Alexander Woolcott and Clark Gable in person. "When I got home yesterday afternoon," said Ann, "David and his little friend were having a cup of tea, as grown up as you please. He had wiped up the bathroom and kitchen—clean up week, you know," she finished, proudly, but added dubiously, "although it was wonderful."

It Happened Here

Mornings in the garden: There was the morning Peggy raked and the incense of burning leaves was a perfume you can't buy at Elizabeth Arden's; the morning the cardinal whistled and whistled like one possessed, and cloud barges drawn by long twisted ropes drifted by, salvaging the little, left over scrap of April's full moon; the morning May came in with a blizzard, trailing wonder whose lap she had been lingering in; the morning we scurried away the little snowdrift and the seilas stood up as bravely blue as the they had been awakened from under soft, warm blankets; and the morning the brown thrasher sang

Prospect Heights Girl Scout News

On Saturday afternoon, May 4th, the Scout Troop's Court of Honor, which is made up of two leaders, the Patrol leaders and their assistants, and the scribe and treasurer, went on a preliminary hike. Their object was to learn how to build a fire which would be useful and at the same time safe.

Miriam Tidd played hostess and it was on her ground that the girls found such a good place for their fires. Carefully laying, lighting, and feeding the fire proved to be quite an absorbing process. Marshmallows, the campers' and hikers' favorites, made an interesting contest—that of seeing who was the best marshmallow toaster.

It's one thing to burn one of the marshmallows but quite another to toast it evenly on all sides. Those who had the most patience and skill at this were Marian Rowader and Elinor Bohlin, both of whom were quite expert at toasting. Those who had their first taste of a campfire's smoke this spring were Marjorie Peterson, Miriam Tidd, Lois Ann Colley, Jean Cowling, Jackie Burch, Darlene Wagner, Lorraine Peterson, Elinor Bohlin, Marian Rowader, and their leader, Kathleen Wynn.

Young Men Offered Summer Nautical Course On Training Ship

The American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C., announced this week that boys and young men between the ages of 11 and 21 years will be allowed to secure practical ship experience on board a training ship of the Academy within the period from June 1, to October 1, 1940.

The young men may remain on board ship for the entire period, or for any shorter time they may wish, but not for less than a month.

The purpose of the course is: First, as a foundation for those who wish to become officers in the Merchant Marine, and devote their lives to a career in the service; Secondly, for those boys and young men who, though not desirous of following the sea, still wish to obtain a general knowledge of ships and the life afloat.

There is no charge for instruction nor for living quarters on board ship. The only required expense is for meals, which are 49 cents. Three meals are served daily.

During the summer course this year the training ship will be stationed at a New England port.

While on board ship the students will follow the regular daily ship routine, and will be given practical instruction in nautical subjects, including seamanship (ship's work), signaling, rowing, handling, and the use of motor boats, life-saving, and naval drills.

Many of the duties on board ship are performed by the cadets as part of their training.

Cadets will also receive instruction in the use of life buoys, first aid, the compass, log, and lead, ground tackle, and the duties of lookouts, as well as the duties of the watch on deck.

Those wishing to take advantage of this opportunity may write to the American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C.

Palatine Qualifies Two Trackmen for State Meet; Cipri Wins 440

Mac Says-

by GERALD A. MC ELROY

Track history was made for Palatine Saturday when Anton Cipri won the 440 and qualified for the state finals at Champaign. It was the first time a Palatine runner ever won first in an event at the district meet. Cipri and Senne are the first Palatine boys to qualify for the state in track events.

Weight Men Qualified Formerly

The only boys who have represented Palatine in the state meet have been in the discus and javelin events. Grandy was the first back in 1928 in the javelin throw. Then came Hahnfeldt, who won the discus in both discus and javelin in 1934 and 1935. In the first year Hahnfeldt took a third and fourth at the state meet. Also in 1935 took first in the discus and fifth with the javelin. Also in 1935 Schinkosky qualified for the state in the javelin. In 1937 Koch won the district in the discus. Hahnfeldt was the only one of these boys who scored at the state meet.

Track Competition Is Toughest

Gaining district honors in running events is a tougher proposition for a small school than in the weights. The reason is that the four or five big schools who dominate each of the districts around Chicago have indoor track facilities and indoor track teams. These teams compete in all events except the discus and javelin. That is one reason we believe why the javelin was this year discontinued and why there is a movement on to eliminate the discus. Due to indoor work boys naturally concentrate on those events available in the winter and fewer boys take up the discus in the spring. Those who do are on even terms with the boys in the smaller schools and the latter occasionally come through in the district.

Six Quality in 440

There is plenty of evidence of this in the fact that on a time basis six boys in the 440 and four in the 880 qualified for the state meet from the Evanston District. Year after year the running events in the suburban district far outclass the average in the weights. For instance three boys in the 440 and two in the 880 at Evanston Saturday ran faster than the winners did in those events in the Big Ten dual meet between Northwestern and Iowa held the same afternoon at Dyche Stadium.

Cross Country Running Helps

So when Cipri, a junior, ran a 51.8 quarter mile it was a remarkable feat for a boy from a school the size of Palatine. The reason for Cipri's success is that he not only is a hard worker who likes track but also that he has had two seasons of cross country running in the fall. Cipri, like most of Palatine's best track boys, does not play basketball and for two years has been doing track work all the school year except during the months of November, December and January. Last spring Cipri was given one chance in 100 of pulling through a bad case of double pneumonia. He came through and by the end of the year won the conference mile. This year he ran the mile and some dashes until three weeks ago when he took up the 440 for the first time since his Freshman year.

Will Comment on State Meet

This week end we will be in Champaign at the state track meet. In our column next week we will give some of the highlights of that meet and tell of the results from the standpoint of the Northeast and Northwest conferences and the teams outside them which compete in the Palatine Relays.

School Closes Early

Elgin High School closed last Friday, a month early, due to lack of finances and as a result the Maroon track team is not competing in the annual Big Seven track meet at Rockford next week. In the 21 years of Big Seven track history Rockford has been victorious 14 times.

Suburban Track Competition Tough

Bryson of Elgin won the 220 yard dash in the Wisconsin state finals last year but placed only third in the Proviso District in the event and does not get a chance to run in the Illinois state meet. It just goes to show how tough the district track meets really are in the Chicago suburban area.

Naperville Wins District

Naperville competed in the district meet at Strator this year and won the meet in easy fashion with 64 points. Runnerup was LaSalle-Fern with 38 points. Downers Grove, only 10 miles from LaGrange, got a transfer from the nearby district meet and traveled down to Kankakee where they won the district. Downers is one of the weaker teams of the West Suburban League in track.

The King Is No More

For three years Elia has had their own way in conference baseball. Wesner's teams have been undefeated in the past two seasons and have taken four championships in a row. However, an end always comes to such victory strings. In the past week Elia was beaten twice and in each case by a team which is taking up baseball for the first time this year. In both defeats Elia fell before two hit pitching. Koch of Grant beat Elia in 10 innings and fanned 19 while Santucci of Northbrook, also held Lake Zurich to two bingles in winning a shutout. No wonder Grant and Northbrook gave up track in favor of baseball this spring. These two teams hold down the top positions in the league standings.

Vynalek Breaks Record

James Vynalek of Crystal Lake broke the district low hurdle record at Rockford last Saturday by winning the event in 23.5. In addition to Vynalek Crystal Lake qualified Wilson for the state meet in the mile. Wilson was timed in 4:11. The Laker relay team of Higgins, Rehberg, Ross, and Vynalek will also be at Champaign through winning in 1:34.4. Crystal Lake was second in the district with 31 points trailing Rockford who scored 49.

Varsity And Reserves Win In Week's Games

Evanston Evens Series With Frosh-Sophs; 3 More Home Games

Arlington's baseball squad saw action on four fronts last week as the varsity played twice and the reserves and frosh-sophs once each. The varsity won both of its encounters, the one at Niles Center a 1-0 thriller already reported, and the one with Zion-Benton a 5-4 dog-fight described elsewhere in these columns.

The other boys divided their games. The Frosh-Sophs lost to Evanston's youngsters of the same age 7-5 Thursday, which gave the boys from the lake city revenge for a 2-0 trimming handed them earlier by Arlington.

Fred Wickenkamp pitched, as in the previous game at Evanston, but failed to get much hitting back of him and also was wild. However, he struck out eight while allowing only five hits. Olson held Arlington to two hits and walked seven.

In Friday's game Arlington's reserves, behind Ed Mueller's four-hit pitching, beat Barrington's baseball team 8-1. Arlington batted out nine hits, including Dick Busse's three-run homer in the fifth inning. Four juniors, six sophomores, and one freshman were among the thirteen players in the line-up and gave a pre-view of the 1941 version of Cardinals-to-be.

The remainder of Arlington's schedule, from Friday, May 17, follows:

Varsity
Friday, May 17, Warren, here.
Tuesday, May 21, Niles, here.
Frosh-Sophs
Saturday, May 18, Waukegan, here.
Reserves
Monday, May 20, at Barrington.
Wednesday, May 22, Waukegan, here.

Nichols Wins

Henry Nichols, of Arlington Heights, won the acclaim of some 600 rooters at the Arlington Redwing boxing show, Friday night by his decisive victory over Henry Vera, Golden Glove novice champion, in the 124 pound class. Here, Nichols is caught delivering a right to Vera's face who sought refuge behind his gloves.

The bout was the final bout of ten fought in the Arlington High school gymnasium at the first attempt of the Redwing's baseball club to bring an outstanding fight card to this vicinity. Every bout brought together some of the most successful fighters in the CYO, Golden Glove, and Tournament of Champions. Each fight lasted three rounds at two minutes apiece.

Nichols defeated Fred Reports, a CYO champion, in a bout Tuesday evening, in Chicago. According to reports, Nichols nearly scored a knockout in the first round of their encounter.

To those boxing fans who like to see some real fighters mix it up from start to finish, the Redwings expect to promote another boxing show in the fall.

Arlington's Frosh-Sophs Defeat Bensenville In Last Relay Event, 57-52

Reetz, Bensenville And Bolte, Arlington, Take Scoring Honors

Arlington Frosh-Sophs won another track victory this past week by downing Bensenville 57-52. The meet was close throughout and was tied at the final event, the Soph relay, 52 all. This Arlington sprinters won quite handsily to score five points and win.

Reetz of Bensenville and Bolte of Arlington divided the scoring honors for high points. Reetz won first in the shot and discus and was second in the 220. Bolte won the 220 and low hurdles, was third in the high jump, and anchored the winning relay team.

More Frosh established themselves as assets to the Arlington squad. Dearie tied for first in the pole vault, Gudtner tied for first in the high jump, and Dorband was second in the shot. This adds to the growing list of those boys to whom Arlington must look for future stars.

Arlington competed minus the services of several boys who were injured but according to Coach Grose their absence did not lose Arlington the meet.

Just as in the varsity meets this year it was Palatine out in front in the running events. Palatine took a slam in the 440 with all boys running under 60 seconds.

Bolte of Arlington won both hurdle events. Dearie won the pole vault and the Arlington Frosh relay team triumphed for the Cards four first places.

Cardinals Submerge Warren, 15-0

Accumulate 10 Hits, 5 For Extra Bases; Busse Allows Two

Long range hitting by the Cardinals and two-hit pitching by Bob Busse gave Arlington Heights high school a 15-0 win over Warren of Gurnee, Tuesday, at Recreation Park. Two infield scratches were all the losers could accumulate off the twirling of Busse. Ten hits rattled off the bats of the hard-driving Cards, five of which were for extra bases.

Art Miller paced the winners with a single, a double, and a triple in three trips to the plate. Mel Garms and Harold Haugen hit triples and Fred Kehe drove out a home run. Ken Koelling came thru with two line singles in his two times at bat. Mel Garms scored four runs, crossing the plate after each trip to the plate.

The Cardinals committed two errors in the first inning after two men had been retired. The second was a throw which Lemke made in an effort to handle Jefferson's scratch hit, and moved runners to second and third. Busse calmly struck the next hitter out. Another error opened the sixth but the runner Wedge, got no farther than third because of some strike-out pitching and some good infield defense. These were Warren's only scoring threats.

The Cardinals opened the scoring in the first inning, getting two runs on two walks and a hit. They collected five more in the second off Bratzke, starting Warren pitcher. Two walks, two errors, a fielder's choice, and hits by Firnbach and Miller did the damage. A run scored in the third without benefit of a hit when Garms was safe on an error, stole second, went on to third on the second baseman's error on the throw, and came home on a passed ball. Six runs scored in the fifth on an error and five solid hits. Two hits in the sixth brought the final run.

Arlington has two games to go in the conference race, playing at Woodstock Friday and meeting Niles at Arlington next Tuesday.

Palatine Frosh-Soph Tennis Team Wins

Palatine's Frosh-Soph tennis team defeated Waukegan's varsity team 3-0 with one match a tie last week but this past Monday had an edge break in four matches with Herrmann's inexperienced racket wielders. Monday Birks and Schwolow won for Palatine in singles but the double teams consisting of Lass, Cramer, Wessell and Gleason were beaten. These two doubles defeats were the first lost by Palatine this year as McHenry, Barrington, and Waukegan had been beaten before by shut out scores.

Today (Thursday) the Pirates' varsity team travels to Northbrook to meet their strongest opponent of the season. Palatine will be minus the services of Roy DeBerge number one singles player who is with the band in a contest at Battle Creek, Michigan. Hollinger will take over number one singles with Campbell and Schwolow also playing singles. The doubles teams will be Hahnfeldt and Snyder as number one and Birks and Fink as number two.

Grant In First Place In N. W. Conference Race

Grant went into first place in the Northwest conference baseball standings by beating Elia 7-3 in 10 inning game. Koch, Grant's southpaw twirler, held Elia to a pair of singles and struck out 19. Knigge of Elia allowed 10 hits and whiffed 16 batters.

Grant led 2-0 until the final inning when Elia tied the score and forced the game into extra innings. Koch and Britz collected two hits apiece and Paddock got three to lead the Bulldog attack.

Advance to State

JOHN SENNE, left, and ANTON CIPRI, two star Palatine runners, qualified for the state track meet this week-end by their performance at the district meet at Evanston last Saturday. Cipri won the 440 event in the fast time of 51.8, while Senne placed sixth with 53.2, which was fast enough to win an opportunity to compete at Champaign. Palatine placed fifth among 11 suburbs at Evanston.

Earl Gieseke Crowns Athletic Career With Good Coaching Position

Appointment of Earl Gieseke to a coaching position at Glendale high school in Arizona, was announced by the authorities of that school recently. Gieseke, former star athlete at Arlington Heights high, will be varsity line coach in football and head coach in track in a high school of 800 enrollment. He will also direct intramural activities and have some classes in academic subjects.

Around Arlington, Gieseke is well remembered for his great play at end on Coach Grose's Northwest conference championship team of 1934, on which he was co-captain. He also won letters in track and basketball.

From high school he went to Riverside Junior College in California. In both years at that school he was selected on all-conference teams. He was co-captain there in his second year.

Gieseke won letters in football and track at Arizona University, where he completed his college work.

In his second year there he beat out a former all-Southwestern end for that position. Gieseke's defensive play was considered an important factor in Arizona's stunning upset of Marquette that year.

His selection as coach in one of the major high schools in the state of Arizona is a logical result of his brilliant athletic career.

Pirates Beat Niles, 86-20; Take Slams In Four Events

Red Wings Beat Zulu Clowns 5-1

Glenview A. C.'s Here Next Sunday, 3 P. M.

by FORREST DAVIS

The Arlington Heights Red Wings beat the Zulu Clowns, from Chicago, 5-1 last Sunday at Recreation Park. The Clowns were handcuffed by Schaefer, who allowed them only two hits, struck out eight and didn't issue any walks for seven innings. Schaefer retired and Buesing went in to pitch in the 8th inning, retiring the first three men in order. In the 9th the Clowns came to life and got two hits and one run.

All the Arlington boys had their batting eye except Wahl and Lemke, neither of them reaching base. Firnbach and Cherwin each got two hits, while their team mates got the other four for a total of 8 hits and five runs.

Next to Schaefer's effective pitching was the fact that the local boys played errorless ball. Next Sunday, the Glenview A. C.'s will play here and the Red Wings will be out to even up the records on that defeat handed them (in the dark) under the lights at Glenview, last fall.

Glenview A. C.'s had a powerful team last year and perhaps they are as good this year, but the Red Wings will give them a real battle. The local team is apparently a much stronger and better fine team, with some mighty fine service, one of the essentials of a good ball club. The Red Wings expect to book only first class teams this season and it will no doubt draw more fans than ever before. The crowd last Sunday was large for so early in the season and it was gratifying to the ball club to see so many fans out last Sunday.

The game this Sunday at Recreation Park will start at 3 o'clock, feet 9 inches.

Arlington Rally Defeats Zion In Final Inning

Coming from behind with a rousing rally in the seventh inning, the Arlington high school Cardinals defeated Zion-Benton 5-4 Saturday afternoon at Recreation Park. An early 3-0 lead melted, and eventually became a 4-3 deficit in the first of the seventh. A walk, two bunts and a slashing double brought the Cards home on top.

Arlington opened with ringing singles by Firnbach, Kehe, and Kirchhoff after Bruhnke had retired the visitors in order. Two men were put away by L. Leech, Zion pitcher, and then Art Miller crashed a long single to right center for two more runs. This lead lasted until Zion scored an unearned run in the fifth.

In the first of the seventh Morton of Zion singled, stole second, and went on to third on Koenig's second error of the game. Leech walked and took second on a steal when Garms tried to pick Morton off third. Bob Busse relieved Bruhnke and struck out Turner, Zion lead-off man.

F. Randle singled the tying runs home. Starr hit a slashing ground over second and Koelling, in center, failed to block it. It went for a triple with Randle scoring to put Zion in the lead.

Julian fouled to Kehe and while the Arlington infield shouted encouragement to Busse Starr tried to sneak home. Busse threw to Garms who blocked Starr off and made the put-out despite a crashing slide.

Busse opened the home half of the seventh and final inning with a walk, Leech's second of the game. Firnbach moved him up on a fine bunt and was safe when Leech got excited and finally dropped the ball. Kehe's bunt was perfect for a hit. Kirchhoff took ball one, then lined a drive down the right field line past the outfielder, Swanson. It may have been good for four bases, but scoring rules made it a double as the winning runs scored and ended the game at that point.

Bruhnke's pitching performance was good, although his control was shaky, due perhaps to a ten-day lay-off from competition. In six innings he struck out two, walked five, and allowed three hits. He faced two men in the seventh. Busse struck out one, walked none, and allowed two hits.

Arlington's defense was alternately good and poor. A double play in the second, Koenig to Kirchhoff to Kehe was one of the best plays. Garms' play at the plate in the seventh was another. However, several throwing errors in the fifth, sixth, and seventh almost lost the ball game.

This was the second Cardinal win of the year over Zion.

Speckman Scores for Bisons

Bensenville's only point in the LaGrange district meet was scored by Speckman who came in fifth in the 220 yard dash. The district there was won by Proviso with a 10 point lead over La Grange who in turn edged out Oak Park and Morton.

Scouts Score 6 1/2 Points

Tartre got to third place tie in the high jump, Bacon took fourth in the 100 yard dash, Gyllenberg was fifth in the high hurdles, and the relay team took fifth to account for the Lake Forest points. Bell was the only Libertyville entry and as indicated earlier he was second in the 440.

Northbrook Nine Shuts Out Ela, 6-0

Peoria Hog Test Shows 'What Makes the Meal'

"Quite a bit of interest has been shown in test feeding of hogs in Peoria county," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "In this experiment hogs were fed the trinity mixture which is a mixture of tankage, soybean oil meal and alfalfa. Another lot was fed the regular Farm Bureau Blue Seal Balance. A third lot was fed largely on corn. These lots of hogs had been watched by farmers all over the state and a number from Cook county went to see them. Eventually ly when the hogs were shipped to the stock yards the two lots were mixed and it was impossible to get the final weights. Mr. J. W. Whisenand, the farm adviser, writes this explanation which is interesting:

"It was apparent, however, that the Blue Seal lot continued to gain faster than the Trinity as they had during March. They ate more feed and their appearance indicated the greater gains.

"The corn-oats pigs are now receiving balancer and gaining very rapidly. I did not realize how quickly pigs would respond to better feeding. This lot will be ready to sell about 60 days behind the others. It appeared many of them would have died if we had stuck to just corn, oats and mineral. Even alfalfa didn't seem to help them much. They perked up immediately, however, when protein supplement was added. One had died and another got so far down that it is coming out slowly. The others had a much improved appearance almost the next day after the supplement was added."

Iodine Is Health Factor Needed In Everyday Meals

Homemakers in the middle west, while fortunate in having a variety of healthful foods produced within easy reach, will have to make an extra effort to secure one diet requirement which inland foods seem to lack.

That requirement is iodine, the preventive for simple goiter, indicated Miss Rosaline Mills, of the home economics research staff in nutrition, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Best sources of the element are iodized salt and sea foods. While a daily supply of iodine is necessary, only a minute portion is essential for good health. Hence it should not be difficult to supply.

Prevalence of simple goiter is more common than many people suspect, said the nutritionist. In 1924 the cities of Detroit and Cleveland found that from 34 to 36 per cent of their school children had a goiter. Detroit, working out a swift campaign to prevent goiter, advocated the use of iodized salt and found within six years' time, the goiter rate had dropped to only 3 per cent.

Nutritionists and doctors agree that prevention of goiter, or the enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck, is highly important, since treatment of goiters is unsatisfactory. Through their research they have found that when iodine is lacking in the diets of animals, the thyroid glands of their offspring are enlarged.

While the work was done on animals, there is every reason to believe that most children in goiter areas, such as the midwest states, are born with thyroid glands which are deficient in iodine, said Miss Mills. For this reason, she points out that expectant mothers need to be absolutely sure they are receiving enough iodine every day.

Trust Deeds — Mortgages are commonly thought to be the instruments most generally used in making farm land the security for a loan or indebtedness. As a matter of fact deeds of trust are widely used in place of mortgages. A simple definition for a deed of trust is: "An instrument in use in many states, taking the place and serving the use of a common-law mortgage, by which the legal title to real property (land and improvements) is placed in one or more trustees, to secure the repayment of a sum of money or the performance of other conditions."

A trust deed differs from a mortgage principally in the fact that a third party is brought into the transaction for the sole purpose of holding title until the seller or lender has been paid. When the notes which the trust deed secures have been satisfied, the trust terminates.

1000 Farmers Expected At Barrington

Thistle Commissioners Will Attend University Farm Bureau Program

To demonstrate and explain the nature of weeds and the best methods of control is the objective of the weed eradication day to be held at the Barrington public school May 27. It is planned to start the meeting in the forenoon about 10 o'clock.

The tentative program worked out at the present time is a talk by Dr. James Barnes, State Botanist on "Weed Identification." A physician who will be named later will talk on "Weeds and Their Effect on Health." "Law and Weed Control" will be handled by L. A. Moore of the State Department and "Weed Control Methods" by Professor J. C. Hackleman of the University.

Lunch will be provided on the grounds and regular committees have been set up to take care of this item. Radio Station WLS will cover the meeting. In the afternoon most probably a field trip will be made to a selected farm where the different control methods will be demonstrated.

Not only are farmers invited who would like to know the best methods of weed control but each city and village is urged to have their proper representatives in attendance so that the weed problem may be handled more intelligently in the past. Thistle commissioners are expected to be in attendance at this meeting.

"Quite a bit of planning has gone into the weed eradication program and it is hoped that farmers will realize that a day spent on learning the best and most approved methods of weed control better than theory and from practice will save many days' labor and eradicate many more weeds than could be done otherwise. We feel that the public needs more information on weeds and how they may be intelligently handled. All farmers and others interested in the weed problem are cordially invited to attend this meeting," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes.

a release is executed and recorded and the legal title passes to the purchaser or back to the borrower as the case may be.

Trust deeds are subject to the same procedure as mortgages with respect to foreclosure, redemption and other legal process. Notes secured by trust deeds are recognized in Illinois as legitimate investments for guardians and conservators.

It is important that a trust deed used in place of a mortgage state clearly it is security for a specific indebtedness (the amount, dates payable, rate of interest and names of obligor and obligee are necessary), and that it is for the use or benefit of the legal holder of the indebtedness.

The requirements with respect to signatures, seals and acknowledgments are the same as for other deeds of real estate.

Trust deeds are used for many purposes other than the securing of indebtedness, the establishment and endowment of charitable, educational and religious organizations being a common use.

Illinois law on trust deeds may be found in the following chapters and sections of the Illinois Revised Statutes, 1939: 3-413; 30-37a, 105, 154, 155, 83-11, 12; 95-9, 10, 11, 11a, 23.

Sewing Clothes At Home Considered Paying Practice

One means of looking well dressed on a minimum budget is to make certain types of garments at home, according to Miss Florence King, assistant professor of home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Articles of wearing apparel suggested by her are undergarments, sleeping garments, house dresses and aprons, all of which, Miss King, reports, are so easy to make that even an amateur seamstress can do a good job. These garments are advised for home production because there is the largest total saving in money outlay, Miss King said.

Wisconsin housewives, it seems, have proved this rule. A survey among them showed that they figure they can save about 64 per cent by making cotton dresses at home, 61 per cent by making wool or part wool dresses, 47 per cent by making cotton slips, 50 per cent by making pajamas and nightgowns, 39 per cent by making aprons and 30 per cent by making bloomers.

The big saving, of course, can not be measured by the amount of coin saved between purchasing a ready-made garment or buying the material and making it oneself, but between the amount of wear given by the ready-made compared to the homemade article, Miss King said. For the home maker, money say $1 which a homemaker might put into a ready-made slip, undoubtedly she could buy material and make a garment which not only would fit her better but would wear longer.

Money saved by making simple garments can be put into the purchase of coats, hats, shoes and better class dresses.

Legumes May Be Seeded Alone In Northern Illinois

On fertile soils where they are adapted, alfalfa, red clover or meadow mixtures have a better chance of surviving dry weather conditions when seeded alone on clean ground and in a well-prepared seed bed in northern or north central Illinois in the spring than when seeded with a spring nurse crop, explains J. C. Hackleman, crops extension specialist of the University of Illinois, College of Agriculture. Until recent years, spring-seeded legumes and meadow mixtures were sown with a spring nurse crop, usually oats or barley. However, more recently the seeding of these crops alone has in many instances resulted in better stands. The nurse crop often was found to be a robber of plant food and moisture instead of a "nurse" crop, Hackleman said.

"Tests at the university show that these crops can be sown alone in a carefully prepared seed bed in May soon after corn-planting time. Seeded in the well-prepared seed bed which has about an inch of soft, mealy soil on top, the legumes will make a rapid growth and produce hay during the latter part of July or early August. The crops also will make a better growth and be more winter-hardy so the crops for the following year will be more certain to yield well than if they were seeded with a nurse crop or seeded late in the season.

"If dry weather comes about the time the oats or the nurse crop is knee-high or higher, the legume or meadow mixture which is seeded in it has a difficult time withstanding the drought and the shade of the accompanying nurse crop. The competition for available moisture becomes increasingly serious as the nurse crop approaches maturity."

Hackleman says the possibility of seeding these legumes and meadow mixtures alone is especially important, now, since many farmers cooperating with the AAA farm program already have used their

AAA Participation On Increase, Crop Land Figures Show

The following figures are interesting in that it gives the amount of participation of total crop land in the AAA program in the Chicago area. These figures were assembled at a district meeting recently held in Woodstock.

Pct. Crop Land in Program	1940	1939
Boone	85%	78%
McHenry	81	84
DeKalb	73	80
Kane	68	59
DuPage	40	54
Lake	39	72
Cook	36	31

Apparently the closer the land is into Chicago the less participation we find in the AAA program. One reason for this is there is more land in truck farms that do not yet fit into the AAA act. Another interesting feature is that for the most part 1940 will show a slight increase in participation over 1939. It was not anticipated as the beginning of the year that this would be so but it is interesting to know that farmers are beginning to realize that the best insurance they can get for better price is not to raise too much or more than the market can absorb.

"Just at the present time we are experiencing a fairly good price on corn and hogs," states Henry Gewecke, a member of the Cook county committee. "We are not sure whether the possibilities of increased prices are due to the war in Europe which is bringing this situation about or not. We rather believe this may have something to do with the situation. If it is so we do not believe it is anything permanent that agriculture can hitch on to for a vast increase in production. What the turn of the war will be we do not know and it may be it will end at any time and prices will be deflated immediately. At the best, the situation cannot continue long and we are close enough to a former war experience to know that the after effects of war are disastrous on prices."

soil-depleting allotments and want to seed additional legumes.

In case alfalfa, red clover or meadow mixtures are grown without a nurse crop, Hackleman recommends several cultivations to kill weeds and emphasizes that the seed be placed in the upper half-inch of the finely pulverized surface layer.

The seeding of additional legumes and grasses is one of the five practices being stressed in the state in 1940 to enable Illinois farmers to get more conservation of soil, water and human resources. The other practices are contour farming, pasture improvement, tree planting and the spreading of more lime stone. Cooperating with local farm advisers and the College of Agriculture in the program are the various agencies and services of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell Teamed For First Time

Presenting "Begin the Beguine" as a dance for the first time, as one of its many musical numbers, "Broadway Melody of 1940" opens next Sunday at the Catlow Theatre for a two day engagement. The production marks the first teaming in history of Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell, world's greatest dancers in their fields.

To present "Begin the Beguine," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer created a set of solid mirrors which is ten feet higher, 37 feet deeper and 60 feet wider than the spectacular "Pretty Girl" set for "The Great Ziegfeld." To the accompaniment of a rumba orchestra and a singing chorus, and accompanied by forty dancers, Astaire, Miss Powell, and George Murphy, all dance this number.

This presentation is one of nine dance numbers in the picture. Beside his "Begin the Beguine," Cole Porter wrote five new songs for the picture. The stars have been given a stellar supporting cast including Frank Morgan, Ian Hunter, Florence Rice, and Lynne Carver.

"Outside the 3-Mile Limit," newest and best of Jack Holt films, presents the screen favorite as a G-man working undercover on the trail of a fortune of spurious bills. Harry Carey, Eduardo Ciannelli and Sig Ruman are the trio of villains who fight against the daring Federal operative in a spectacular saga of bravery and excitement.

Public Is Swinging Away From Swing Says Eddy

"The American public is swinging away from swing." So says Nelson Eddy, who is co-starring with Iona Massey in "Balalaika," spectacular musical which opens at the Palatine Theatre this Friday and Saturday.

"Personally, I like swing in its place," said the popular baritone. "I listen to it regularly, and I get much enjoyment out of the better bands playing this type of music."

"But I really believe that as far as the general public is concerned, swing music is losing its popularity. An unusual and absorbing idea in mystery films comes to the Palatine theatre Sunday and Monday with 20th Century-Fox's drama, "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk."

From the outset of the film, when a murder is committed, the audience and the police know at once who committed the crime; the mystery is the identity of the killer and his motive. The result is a highly exciting story well played by Lloyd Nolan, in the title role.

James Stewart wears a pair of four-year-old shoes in "The Shop Around the Corner," which stars him with Margaret Sullivan. Stewart wouldn't make a film without the shoes. The first time he wore

On Sunday, the greatest novel of our time is honestly, fearlessly and eloquently brought to the Des Plaines' screen. Widely discussed, it was said by many that the subject matter of John Steinbeck's "The Grapes of Wrath" could never stand the cold glare of a camera lens, but it has been done. The picture stands as a tribute to the importance of the motion picture and the courage of Darryl F. Zanuck its producer.
